NO FOREIGN POLICY CHANGES DUE

Truman Denies Trying To Ease Up On Moscow

Jay Franklin Article Without Foundation, President Declares

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (AP)—President Truman told the press with considerable emphasis today that American foreign policy is undergoing no change.

He labeled without foundation in fact a published report that he is trying, against Cabinet opposition, to soften our policy toward Russia in a new approach to peace.

His blunt words were spoken at his first 1949 news conference. He first announced the appointment of Dean Acheson and James E. Webb as Secretary and Undersecretary of State to succeed the resigning George C. Marshall and Robert A. Lovett.

Did this presage a shift in foreign policy in line with a Life magazine article by Columnist Jay Franklin? a newsman asked.

It does not, Mr. Truman replied sharply. He went on to say the Franklin article is without foundation in fact in nearly every instance and every paragraph.

No Commet From Franklin

Franklin, who would not comment on the President's remarks, had written in an earlier article that the election blasted the "whole Byrnes-Marshall-Forrestal program." He referred to former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, Gen. Marshall and Secretary of Defense James Forrestal.

To this, Mr. Truman replied with continued emphasis that our foreign policy was inaugurated by the President, that it was carried out by the Secretary of State, and that he, the President, stands behind the Secretary.

Franklin wrote in Life today that the conclusion he reached "flowed from the President's own campaign statements and from my private conversations with him."

Asked about this, Mr. Truman said Franklin was one of his campaign assistants who helped in preparing speeches. But he added the columnist had never had an interview with him on any subject. The only time he had seen him at the White House was when Franklin called about a job.

He said as long as he had been President Franklin had never seen any top secret messages.

In New York, Life's managing editor, Joseph J. Thorndike, Jr., said today's article was published as the views of someone who has been close to the President, along with a note stating the magazine's own "reservations and disagreements" with Franklin's views.

Pace Named Budget Director

Mr. Truman started the conference by announcing the resignation of General Marshall because of health and of Lovett for "personal reasons" with which Lovett said, the President was familiar.

Webb, a 42-year-old native of Oxford, N. C., the new Undersecretary, is director of the budget. The President named Frank Pace, Jr., Little Rock, Ark., the new budget director, and Frederick J. Lawton, assistant budget director.

The rest of the news conference dealt with portions of the President's legislative recommendations, particularly steel and labor.

Mr. Truman said his recommendations for expansion of steel production contemplated progressive steps rather than immediate government construction of steel plants.

In his state of the union message he proposed government loans for private expansion and government

Israel Reports Fighting After Truce Deadline

Jews Hurl Arabs Back In Operation Before Cease-Fire

TEL AVIV, Israel, Jan. 7 (AP)—Fighting sputtered in Southern Palestine tonight despite an Israeli-Egyptian cease-fire order designed to lead to a permanent armistice.

Israeli forces completed what the Jews said was probably the "greatest battle of movement" in Holy Land history before the deadline was reached at 2 p. m. (7 a. m. EST).

It was an operation which saw Israeli troops stab as deep as 48 miles into Egyptian territory. The Israeli chief of operations, Col. Yigal Yadin, estimated that the Egyptians in more than two weeks of fighting suffered 2,500 casualties, of whom 700 were killed and 700 captured.

In sweeping operations against the Egyptians in the Negev Desert, Israeli forces secretly repaired the old Roman road leading southwest from Beersheba and suddenly drove against the Egyptians, Yadin said. The Egyptians, he added, "ran like hell."

Israeli Losses "Considerable"

"But it was a hard fight," Yadin said. "The cost to us also was considerable."

In the end he declared, nearly all Egyptian forces were hurled from Israeli soil. Rafa, the Egyptians' gateway to Palestine where the actual border line is in dispute, is partially ringed from the south and west by Israeli troops, he declared.

It was in that area that fighting was reported after the cease-fire deadline. The Jews said the Egyptians counterattacked the Israeli line there late this afternoon and were thrown back. They said altogether five Egyptian planes were shot down in the Negev today.

Israeli spokesman described the fighting as local in character, however, and it still was too early to say whether the cease-fire orders would hold.

The spoksman said fighting still was going on at Rafa at 5 p. m. Two of the Egyptian planes which were shot down were part of a formation of 12 which was broken up by four Israeli aircraft, he said.

Earlier, United Nnations observers at Haifa had reported general observance of the cease-fire.

Egyptian Action "Conditional"

(The Egyptian government in Cairo, in announcig that it had ordered a cease-fire, said its action was "conditional" on Israeli's withdrawing to her positions of October 14 and obeying United Nations Security Council orders. Nevertheless, the communique said, the cease-fire order was being carried out.)

Clashes also were reported today from the Ramath Hakovesh area in the central sector where Israeli and Iraqi forces face each other.

Jewish military sources said Iraqi units succeeded in taking a height hitherto occupied by the Jews. The Jewish command said Israel's cease-fire order applied to the central front as well as to Southern Palestine. Israeli troops were told to return fire only if attacked. Tel Aviv informants regarded the Iraqi operations as not particularly serious.

It was the fastest trip ever made between the cities, an airline distance of 711 miles.

Convicted Jap War Criminal Dies Of Cancer

TOKYO, Saturday, Jan. 8 (AP) — Gen. Yoshijiro Umezu, who was sentenced by the international military tribunal to life imprisonment for war crimes, died of cancer in a United States Army hospital today.

Umezu had been hospitalized since March and was informed while in bed of is sentence.

Sixty-six year old Umezu was one of te signers of Japan's surrender aboard the battleship Missouri.

Acheson, Webb Named To Run U.S. State Dept.

Marshall Resignation, Accepted By Truman, Called Regrettable

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (AP)—President Truman today assigned a new team to run American foreign policy. Emphatically he denied that this means any softening of the "tough" policy toward Russia.

George Marshall

Dean Acheson

At a news conference, Mr. Truman announced:

Gen. George C. Marshall, 68 and in ill health, has resigned as Secretary of State effective January 20.

Dean Acheson, lawyer and former undersecretary who is 13 years younger than Marshall, will be the new Secretary and number one man in the President's second-term Cabinet.

Robert A. Lovett, 53, Wall Street banker and Marshall's undersecretary, will resign along with his chief January 20 for "personal reasons," meaning that he wants to get back to private life.

James E. Webb, 11 years younger than Lovett at 42, and now Mr. Truman's budget director, will succeed Lovett as Undersecretary of State.

The immediate reaction to the Acheson appointment was mostly favorable. Cordell Hull, former Secretary of State, called Acheson a man of "outstanding ability." Sen. Connally (D-Tex.), new chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, expressed pleasure while calling Marshall's departure regrettable.

"Concern" Expected

Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.) said he expected some "concern" among senators over frequent changes in the State Department which, he said, have prevented "consistency" in foreign policy.

The changes are subject to Senate confirmation.

It was indicated that some members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee may explore Acheson's relations, while he was previously in the State Department, with Alger Hiss, former department official.

Hiss is now under indictment for perjury. The charge is that he falsely denied he gave secret government papers to Whittaker Chambers, acknowledged former courier for a Communist spy ring.

Alger Hiss' brother, Donald, is one of 23 partners in the Acheson law firm—Convington, Burlin, Rublee, Acheson and Shorb.

In Britain today, the appointment of Acheson was greeted enthusiastically by high officials, who called him a "friend of Britain."

In accepting Marshall's resignation, Mr. Truman paid about the highest praise it would be possible

Nanking Awaiting Possible "Second Peace Statement"

Offer Might Indicate If Chiang Will Resign

NANKING, Jan. 7 (AP)—This anxious capital today awaited a second government offer to talk peace with the Communists, who have launched heavy attacks in Central and North China.

The Nanking News said an authoritive source disclosed the government will issue a "second peace statement." A government spokesman said he knew nothing about it, but other sources thought it "quite probable."

The News said the second statement might indicate whether Chiang Kai-Shek will quit the presidency. It adder officials hoped the statement would persuade the reds to abandon their "militaristic tactics."

Heavy Fighting Near Tientsin

Chiang's New Year's offer to negotiate brought first a barrage of criticism from the Red radio, and then a barrage of artillery fire from Comunist gunners in the north and on the Central front.

Reports reaching Nanking from Tientsin said heavy fighting was in progress on the city's defense perimeter. There were indications the Reds were ready to carry the city by assault.

Associated Press Correspondent Spencer Moosa, in Peiping, quoted pro-government reports that the Nationalists were forced back on the south.

Gen. Lin Piao, the Red general from Manchuria, was said to have massed 120,000 veteran troops for the assault. Red shells were exploding in the factory district of Tientsin's southern suburbs.

Former Suchow Force Riddled

On the front north of Nanking, the former Suchow garrison was melting away under renewed assault by encircling Reds, informed sources said. Hunger and bullets were forcing the soldiers to quit. Complete surrender was predicted by the end of the week.

No more than 150,000 remained of the original force of 250,000 which Chiang had counted on to move south from Suchow and help hold the Yangtze River line, they added.

One unconfirmed report said Gen. Tu Li-Ming, commander of the trapped forces, had taken off by plane from a small air strip inside his lines and had reached Nanking.

Half-Century Vigil For Missing Son Ended By Death

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Jan. 7 (AP)—A half-century of hoping his son would return ended today with the death of 83-year-old Albert T. Brotherton, retired railroad employe.

The unsolved disappearance of Brotherton's son, Eddie, on January 19, 1894, set off a widespread search which lasted for years. The boy never was found.

He disappeared from his home on the afternoon of the January day, and in the grief-laden years that followed, the child's parents clung to the hope that Eddie would return one day. The mother died some years ago.

Lava Advances Toward Resorts

HILO, Hawaii, Jan. 7 (AP)—Famed Mauna Loa volcano, erupting with a violent burst of gas, sent streams of lava down its slope today toward the coffee fields and resorts on this island's western coast.

Schools were dismissed at the village of Honaunau, Hookena and Alae in the path of the westward advance of lava, but the slowness of the flow eased fears the village would have to be evacuated.

Four streams of lava spilled from the snow-crowned volcano, which rises 13,680 feet above the sea. Sulphurous smoke boiled 18,000 feet above the peak when the volcano erupted yesterday.

Lava-streams—12 to 15 winding miles long and as much as two miles wide on the west slope—oozed through the wilderness land of old lava beds.

Plane Disappears

HONOLULU, Jan. 7 (AP)— A light plane crashed at an emergency field near erupting Mauna Loa volcano today and another plane was missing, posibly with four persons aboard.

Four-engined transports and tiny flivver planes alike were flying over and around the spectacular volcano.

The Coast Guard said a red Cub plane crashed and reported one man was waving to attract attention and another lay on the ground. A rescue party was en route to the area.

A Red Stinson plane believed to be carrying four persons has been missing since 8:30 a. m. It was last seen heading into a cloud bank part way down the slope, at about the 9,000-foot level.

President Leaves Labor Legislation Form To Congress

Question Of One Or More Bills Important

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (AP)—President Truman is leaving to Congress the touchy problem of how to write a new labor law.

At his news conference today, he refused to say whether his various labor law proposals should be done up in "one package," or two or three.

This question is the hottest issue of the day in the labor-management field.

At least three interpretations of the President's position have been made on the basis of his "state of the union" message to Congress two days ago.

But when a reporter asked him today about the "one-package" idea, he replied quickly that he had made his position clear on labor proposals and that the legislative end is up to Congress.

Reporter Interrupted Twice

He replied so quickly the reporter had not completed his question. The reporter began asking it again. Mr. Truman interrupted him a second time with the same reply.

In his message the President proposed repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act, which unions dislike, and re-enactment of the original Wagner Act, which unions like. He added, however, that "certain improvements" to the Wagner Act are needed. These three things could be done all at once, or consecutively.

Now here are two big reasons why the issue of timing is so important:

1. It has a bearing on how long the Taft-Hartley Act will stay on the books in its present form. The unions are eager to get rid of it at once and go back to the Wagner Act. They say the congressional fight over the President's Wagner Act "improvements" and other proposals may take several months.

Veto Power Vital Point

2. It has a bearing on the shape of the new labor bill expected to emerge from Congress. The vital point here is the President's veto power.

If Congress sent him a "one-package" labor bill, he couldn't veto it — even if he thought it retained too many Taft-Hartley features — without automatically continuing the entire Taft-Hartley Aact.

But suppose Congress first restored the Wagner Act, and later passed another labor bill. And suppose this bill contained too many Taft-Hartley features to suit the President. He could veto it. And such a veto, if sustained by Congress, would leave the Wagner Act alone in force.

MORE EARTHQUAKES ARE FELT IN RENO, NEV., AREA

RENO, Nev., Jan. 7. (AP)—Four "severe earthquakes" were reported tonight by residents of Verdi, 10 miles west of here, but there were no immediate reports of damage.

At least one quake was felt by many residents of Reno, which was jolted by a long series of tremors last week.

Mrs. Sophus Mortensen, Verdi, reported by telephone three shocks there tonight, between 7:41 and 7:55 PST (10:41-10:55 EST) and interrupted her conversation to scream:

"Wait a minute! We're having another one now."

Returning to the telephone a moment later, she described the shocks as "having a heavy, rolling motion." The first two, she said, were accompanied by noise, "like a rumbling explosion."

The Reno area was hit by a series of quakes December 27, with the biggest, on the morning of December 29, doing widespread but minor damage.

President Sets Goal Of Million More Jobs, Expanded Production

Jet Locomotives To Appear Next Year In England

LONDON, Jan. 7 (AP)—Trains hauled by jet-powered locomotives will go into operation in England next summer. An official said the experimental trains will have a top speed of 90 miles an hour.

The nationalized British railways disclosed tonight two of the gas turbine electric engines will be given trial runs on main line routes.

Truman Again Asks For Tax Hike, Powers To Combat Inflation

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (AP)—President Truman today set a goal of 1,000,000 more jobs and expanded productions as he unfolded the economic chart he wants the nation to follow in 1949.

The future can not be left to chance, he said in his annual economic report to Congress, because "dangerous inflationary pressures" still are at work. Accordingly he again asked for the $4,000,000,000 tax boost and anti-inflationary powers he outlined in his state of the union message Wednesday.

In this connection, he urged a two-year extension of rent controls, and elaborated on his request for powers to control prices and wages on a selective basis. He said these powers may never be used, but should be provided.

As a supplement to the general control powers requested, the President asked for authority to withhold price advances "for a reasonable period while public inquiry into their justification is being made."

Among other things, he called for repeal of the federal excise taxes on margarine.

Reiterating that corporations should bear the major load of the $4,000,000,000 tax increase, he said nevertheless the levies should be applied so as not to hamper business expansion.

Production Records Broken

His report contained the official tally of the past year's economic achievements highlighted by gains in nearly all fields of industry which boosted the nation's output of goods and services to a record peak of $252,700,000,000.

To maintain this prosperity drive at more balanced levels, the President called on Congress to launch a "vigorous anti-inflation program now." He said that the social program he outlined Wednesday is a two-edged government weapon—"anti-depression" as well as anti-inflation.

Democratic leaders immediately promised a quick drive to carry out the President's economic program, but a Senate Republican chief sounded a go-slow note.

Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass), deputy GOP floor leader, told a reporter:

"The conclusions and recommendations of the President are so extensive they require a lot of study. Only after very careful consideration by every member of Congress can we be sure of a course that will bring us to the best solution."

O'Mahoney Praises Message

Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) said the President's message was "constructive and positive" and should calm "the fears of a few critics who pretended to see a drift toward socialism" in Mr. Truman's address to Congress on Wednesday. O'Mahoney heads the joint Senate-House Economic Committee which will weigh the President's report for legislative action.

Crash Of Airlift Plane Kills Six

WARRINGTON, England, Saturday, Jan. 8. (AP)—Six men died yesterday in the first crash in Britain of a United States Army plane engaged in the Berlin airlift.

County police from Preston who found the six bodies in the wreckage in Northwest Lancashire said no more victims were there.

An Air Force spokesman in Frankfurt, Germany, said it was believed 17 or 18 men were aboard the C-54 four-engine Skymaster, but a check in England disclosed only six men were in the plane.

The cargo-carrying plane fell in swamp country en route from Germany to Burtonwood Air Base for inspection.

A United States Air Force medical search and rescue team reached the crash scene early today from Burtonwood Base near Warrington.

A spokesman for the United States Air Force at Bushey Park, Middlesex, said the plane's original manifest showed only six aboard.

He said the information on the manifest came from both the Frankfurt flight service and the British flight service. Names of the dead will not be released until 48 hours after next of kin are informed, he said.

Flood Claims Two Lives

COLUMBUS, Miss., Jan. 7 (AP) — Two deaths were reported today in North Mississippi floods, which have driven more than 3,000 persons from their homes after heavy rains earlier this week.

Eddie White, 35-year-old negro and his son, 11, drowned when a team of mules became frightened and backed their wagon off a flooded road near Macon.

Reorganization Power For President Favored

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover said today that he will recommend restoration of the President's authority to reorganize the government through executive orders.

The only living former President went to the White House to get the President's view before disclosing his decision as chairman of the bi-partisan committee on reorganization of the executive branch.

Emerging from the President's office, Mr. Hoover told reporters he had conferred with the Chief Executive on only one matter.

He recalled that President Roosevelt formerly had authority to reorganize the government subject to congressional veto, but that authority expired last April.

Bogart Has Son, Wins $10 Bet With Truman

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 7. (AP)—Humphrey Bogart, film actor has a baby today—and 10 bucks coming from the President of the United States.

He and Lauren Bacall are the parents of a son, Stephen Humphrey, their first. Stephen was born last night at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, and weighed six pounds, six ounces. The jubilant Bogart related today President Truman bet him the baby would be a girl.

Bogart, who bet on Truman, saw the President here shortly before the election. "He'd better pay me, too," said Bogey.

Attorney Is Job-Hunting After Winning Freedom

NORFOLK, Mass., Jan. 7. (AP)—John F. Noxon, 52, prominent Pittsfield attorney, today won a four and a half year fight for freedom after his conviction of murdering his mentally-deficient infant son—and immediately began job-hunting.

"I don't know what I'm going to do but I've got do do something," he told newsmen as he walked out of the state prison colony gates under parole made possible by two commutations, one of which saved him from electrocution.

"I am going to talk with some friends about what work I'll do," Noxon said, adding: "I am also going to confer with the parole board about whether I can return to my law practice. I haven't decided definitely about law but it is doubtful that I would go into public practice."

His attractive wife, Margaret, who has stood by him since his arrest in September, 1943, greeted him with a light kiss on the lips as the tall, bald attorney walked to freedom on his two heavy canes. Noxon was stricken with infantile paralysis when a young man.

He was sentenced to the electric chair on July 7, 1944 after he was convicted of charges that he wrapped a frayed electric light cord about his child's arms and then placed him—with diapers wet—on a silver serving tray to form a contact.

Athens, O., Woman Is Murdered By "Maniac"

ATHENS, O., Jan. 7 (AP) — The body of a woman who led Athens children to clean lives through the power of her love and attention rested in a morgue today, killed by a "maniac."

The killer of 52-year-old Eleanor E. Gifford must have been a maniac, said Coroner John H. Elias. He ruled her death homicide.

The motive must have been robbery, said Sheriff George Bateman. The woman's purse and 1948 automobile she used in her rounds of friendly visits are missing.

Coroner Elias, considering the love which this and nearby communities bore Miss Gifford, said of the unidentified slayer:

"He must have been nuts."

France Bans Two U. S. Anti-Russian Movies

PARIS, Jan. 7 (AP) — France has banned two of Hollywood's anti-Soviet films as likely to cause riots, it was learned today.

An authoritative source identified the two films as "Ninotchka" and "The Iron Curtain." The United States Embassy is trying to get the decision reversed.

Rededication Set

Philadelphia To Welcome Returning Freedom Train

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 7 (AP)—The Freedom Train, America's history on wheels, returns tomorrow to the place of its beginning in the final chapter of a 16-month criss-crossing pilgromage through 35,000 miles of the United States.

The great red, white and blue train, with its priceless cargo of documents, shares top billing with the gala mummers parade which was postponed on New Year's Day after bad weather threatened.

Parade and Freedom Train officials say they have worked out a schedule to avoid any conflict of the two events.

Impressive ceremonies will highlight the city's welcome to the returning train which began its tour here September 17, 1947.

A formal rededication service will start at 10 a. m. (Eastern Standard Time) tomorrow when disabled war veterans, escorted by color guards, bands and drum corps, march from City Hall to the train platform.

Shortly after the Freedom Train ceremonies are completed, the gaily garbed mummers will strut their string bands up Broad Street past the reviewing stand at City Hall.

Mummers officials said a record number of 36 string bands, comic clubs and fancy clubs will high step along the eight-mile line of march to the tunes of "O Dem Golden Slippers," "Four Leaf Clover" and other traditional mummers' tunes.

But while the mummers colorful parade, dating back to colonial times, will be a one-day affair, the Freedom Train will make a six-day visit with each marked by special ceremonies.

The train, which has visited 322 cities in every state of the union, recently had its tour extended to include presidential inaugural week in Washington.

After the inaugural week showing, the cargo of historical documents will be removed and the train disbanded

Martin Hails Foreign Committee Agreement

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (AP) — Republican Leader Martin (Mass) hailed today an agreement by Democratic leaders to let 11 Republicans serve on the House Foreign Affairs Committee. Martin called it "a continuation of the spirit of the bi-partisan foreign policy."

The Republicans assigned 11 Democrats to this committee when they were in power in the last Congress.

Democrats will have 14 members on Foreign Affairs.

Pilot Killed

Jet Plane Crash Marks All American Air Races

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 7 (AP)—A jet-propelled "Shooting Star" fighter plane crashed and exploded only eight seconds away from a crowd of 5,000 persons at the All American Air Maneuvers today.

The Air Force pilot was killed. His name was not learned immediately.

His plane fell a mile and a half from the grandstand, and no spectators were hurt.

The accident occurred as a V-formation of nine jets roared at 450 miles an hour toward the field from the west. They were in a shallow dive only 500 feet above the ground. There was a sudden flash and billowing flames.

Lt. Col. Clarke Newlon, public information officer for the 336th Squadron, Fourth Fighter Group, Andrews Field, Md., to which the plane belonged, said an elevator came off the F-80 and threw it to the earth. The explosion came with the impact, he said

The other eight planes of the formation swept at breath-taking speed over the grandstand.

The 17th annual All American Air Maneuvers started with a parachute jump by Roy W. Grant, Leesburg, Fla., about two hours before the crash.

Two heats of the Continental Trophy Race had been run off before the jets took the air.

T. B. Heisel, Gainesville, Fla., won the first heat of the trophy race for planes powered with engines of 190 cubic inch displacement or less. Heisel flew his little craft eight times around the two mile course at an average speed of 170.162 miles an hour.

The second heat was won by S. J. Witman, Oshkosh, Wis., with an average speed of 176.687 miles an hour.

Defending Champion Bill Brennand, Oshkosh, Wis., won the third heat with an average speed of 174.545.

Egyptian Action "Conditional"

(The Egyptian government in Cairo, in announcig that it had ordered a cease-fire, said its action was "conditional" on Israeli's withdrawing to her positions of October 14 and obeying United Nations Security Council orders. Nevertheless, the communique said, the cease-fire order was being carried out.)

Clashes also were reported today from the Ramath Hakovesh area in the central sector where Israeli and Iraqi forces face each other.

Jewish military sources said Iraqi units succeeded in taking a height hitherto occupied by the Jews. The Jewish command said Israel's cease-fire order applied to the central front as well as to Southern Palestine. Israeli troops were told to return fire only if attacked. Tel Aviv informants regarded the Iraqi operations as not particularly serious.

Acheson, Webb Named To Run U.S. State Dept.

Marshall Resignation, Accepted By Truman, Called Regrettable

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (AP)—President Truman today assigned a new team to run American foreign policy. Emphatically he denied that this means any softening of the "tough" policy toward Russia.

George Marshall

Dean Acheson

At a news conference, Mr. Truman announced:

Gen. George C. Marshall, 68 and in ill health, has resigned as Secretary of State effective January 20.

Dean Acheson, lawyer and former undersecretary who is 13 years younger than Marshall, will be the new Secretary and number one man in the President's second-term Cabinet.

Robert A. Lovett, 53, Wall Street banker and Marshall's undersecretary, will resign along with his chief January 20 for "personal reasons," meaning that he wants to get back to private life.

James E. Webb, 11 years younger than Lovett at 42, and now Mr. Truman's budget director, will succeed Lovett as Undersecretary of State.

The immediate reaction to the Acheson appointment was mostly favorable. Cordell Hull, former Secretary of State, called Acheson a man of "outstanding ability." Sen. Connally (D-Tex.), new chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, expressed pleasure while calling Marshall's departure regrettable.

"Concern" Expected

Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.) said he expected some "concern" among senators over frequent changes in the State Department which, he said, have prevented "consistency" in foreign policy.

The changes are subject to Senate confirmation.

It was indicated that some members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee may explore Acheson's relations, while he was previously in the State Department, with Alger Hiss, former department official.

Hiss is now under indictment for perjury. The charge is that he falsely denied he gave secret government papers to Whittaker Chambers, acknowledged former courier for a Communist spy ring.

Alger Hiss' brother, Donald, is one of 23 partners in the Acheson law firm—Convington, Burlin, Rublee, Acheson and Shorb.

In Britain today, the appointment of Acheson was greeted enthusiastically by high officials, who called him a "friend of Britain."

Half-Century Vigil For Missing Son Ended By Death

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Jan. 7 (AP)—A half-century of hoping his son would return ended today with the death of 83-year-old Albert T. Brotherton, retired railroad employe.

The unsolved disappearance of Brotherton's son, Eddie, on January 19, 1894, set off a widespread search which lasted for years. The boy never was found.

He disappeared from his home on the afternoon of the January day, and in the grief-laden years that followed, the child's parents clung to the hope that Eddie would return one day. The mother died some years ago.

Lava Advances Toward Resorts

HILO, Hawaii, Jan. 7 (AP)—Famed Mauna Loa volcano, erupting with a violent burst of gas, sent streams of lava down its slope today toward the coffee fields and resorts on this island's western coast.

Schools were dismissed at the village of Honaunau, Hookena and Alae in the path of the westward advance of lava, but the slowness of the flow eased fears the village would have to be evacuated.

Four streams of lava spilled from the snow-crowned volcano, which rises 13,680 feet above the sea. Sulphurous smoke boiled 18,000 feet above the peak when the volcano erupted yesterday.

Lava-streams—12 to 15 winding miles long and as much as two miles wide on the west slope—oozed through the wilderness land of old lava beds.

Plane Disappears

HONOLULU, Jan. 7 (AP)— A light plane crashed at an emergency field near erupting Mauna Loa volcano today and another plane was missing, possibly with four persons aboard.

Four-engined transports and tiny flivver planes alike were flying over and around the spectacular volcano.

The Coast Guard said a red Cub plane crashed and reported one man was waving to attract attention and another lay on the ground. A rescue party was en route to the area.

A Red Stinson plane believed to be carrying four persons has been missing since 8:30 a. m. It was last seen heading into a cloud bank part way down the slope, at about the 9,000-foot level.

President Leaves Labor Legislation Form To Congress

Question Of One Or More Bills Important

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (AP)—President Truman is leaving to Congress the touchy problem of how to write a new labor law.

At his news conference today, he refused to say whether his various labor law proposals should be done up in "one package," or two or three.

This question is the hottest issue of the day in the labor-management field.

At least three interpretations of the President's position have been made on the basis of his "state of the union" message to Congress two days ago.

But when a reporter asked him today about the "one-package" idea, he replied quickly that he had made his position clear on labor proposals and that the legislative end is up to Congress.

Reporter Interrupted Twice

He replied so quickly the reporter had not completed his question. The reporter began asking it again. Mr. Truman interrupted him a second time with the same reply.

In his message the President proposed repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act, which unions dislike, and re-enactment of the original Wagner Act, which unions like. He added, however, that "certain improvements" to the Wagner Act are needed. These three things could be done all at once, or consecutively.

Now here are two big reasons why the issue of timing is so important:

1. It has a bearing on how long the Taft-Hartley Act will stay on the books in its present form. The unions are eager to get rid of it at once and go back to the Wagner Act. They say the congressional fight over the President's Wagner Act "improvements" and other proposals may take several months.

Veto Power Vital Point

2. It has a bearing on the shape of the new labor bill expected to emerge from Congress. The vital point here is the President's veto power.

If Congress sent him a "one-package" labor bill, he couldn't veto it — even if he thought it retained too many Taft-Hartley features — without automatically continuing the entire Taft-Hartley Aact.

But suppose Congress first restored the Wagner Act, and later passed another labor bill. And suppose this bill contained too many Taft-Hartley features to suit the President. He could veto it. And such a veto, if sustained by Congress, would leave the Wagner Act alone in force.

President Sets Goal Of Million More Jobs, Expanded Production

Truman Again Asks For Tax Hike, Powers To Combat Inflation

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (AP)—President Truman today set a goal of 1,000,000 more jobs and expanded productions as he unfolded the economic chart he wants the nation to follow in 1949.

The future can not be left to chance, he said in his annual economic report to Congress, because "dangerous inflationary pressures" still are at work. Accordingly he again asked for the $4,000,000,000 tax boost and anti-inflationary powers he outlined in his state of the union message Wednesday.

In this connection, he urged a two-year extension of rent controls, and elaborated on his request for powers to control prices and wages on a selective basis. He said these powers may never be used, but should be provided.

As a supplement to the general control powers requested, the President asked for authority to withhold price advances "for a reasonable period while public inquiry into their justification is being made."

Among other things, he called for repeal of the federal excise taxes on margarine.

Reiterating that corporations should bear the major load of the $4,000,000,000 tax increase, he said nevertheless the levies should be applied so as not to hamper business expansion.

Production Records Broken

His report contained the official tally of the past year's economic achievements highlighted by gains in nearly all fields of industry which boosted the nation's output of goods and services to a record peak of $252,700,000,000.

To maintain this prosperity drive at more balanced levels, the President called on Congress to launch a "vigorous anti-inflation program now." He said that the social program he outlined Wednesday is a two-edged government weapon—"anti-depression" as well as anti-inflation.

Democratic leaders immediately promised a quick drive to carry out the President's economic program, but a Senate Republican chief sounded a go-slow note.

Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass), deputy GOP floor leader, told a reporter:

"The conclusions and recommendations of the President are so extensive they require a lot of study. Only after very careful consideration by every member of Congress can we be sure of a course that will bring us to the best solution."

O'Mahoney Praises Message

Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) said the President's message was "constructive and positive" and should calm "the fears of a few critics who pretended to see a drift toward socialism" in Mr. Truman's address to Congress on Wednesday. O'Mahoney heads the joint Senate-House Economic Committee which will weigh the President's report for legislative action.

Jet Locomotives To Appear Next Year In England

LONDON, Jan. 7 (AP)—Trains hauled by jet-powered locomotives will go into operation in England next summer. An official said the experimental trains will have a top speed of 90 miles an hour.

The nationalized British railways disclosed tonight two of the gas turbine electric engines will be given trial runs on main line routes.

Crash Of Airlift Plane Kills Six

WARRINGTON, England, Saturday, Jan. 8. (AP)—Six men died yesterday in the first crash in Britain of a United States Army plane engaged in the Berlin airlift.

County police from Preston who found the six bodies in the wreckage in Northwest Lancashire said no more victims were there.

An Air Force spokesman in Frankfurt, Germany, said it was believed 17 or 18 men were aboard the C-54 four-engine Skymaster, but a check in England disclosed only six men were in the plane.

The cargo-carrying plane fell in swamp country en route from Germany to Burtonwood Air Base for inspection.

A United States Air Force medical search and rescue team reached the crash scene early today from Burtonwood Base near Warrington.

A spokesman for the United States Air Force at Bushey Park, Middlesex, said the plane's original manifest showed only six aboard.

He said the information on the manifest came from both the Frankfurt flight service and the British flight service. Names of the dead will not be released until 48 hours after next of kin are informed, he said.

Flood Claims Two Lives

COLUMBUS, Miss., Jan. 7 (AP) — Two deaths were reported today in North Mississippi floods, which have driven more than 3,000 persons from their homes after heavy rains earlier this week.

Eddie White, 35-year-old negro and his son, 11, drowned when a team of mules became frightened and backed their wagon off a flooded road near Macon.

MORE EARTHQUAKES ARE FELT IN RENO, NEV., AREA

RENO, Nev., Jan. 7. (AP)—Four "severe earthquakes" were reported tonight by residents of Verdi, 10 miles west of here, but there were no immediate reports of damage.

At least one quake was felt by many residents of Reno, which was jolted by a long series of tremors last week.

Mrs. Sophus Mortensen, Verdi, reported by telephone three shocks there tonight, between 7:41 and 7:55 PST (10:41-10:55 EST) and interrupted her conversation to scream:

"Wait a minute! We're having another one now."

Returning to the telephone a moment later, she described the shocks as "having a heavy, rolling motion." The first two, she said, were accompanied by noise, "like a rumbling explosion."

The Reno area was hit by a series of quakes December 27, with the biggest, on the morning of December 29, doing widespread but minor damage.

Nanking Awaiting Possible "Second Peace Statement"

Offer Might Indicate If Chiang Will Resign

NANKING, Jan. 7 (AP)—This anxious capital today awaited a second government offer to talk peace with the Communists, who have launched heavy attacks in Central and North China.

The Nanking News said an authoritive source disclosed the government will issue a "second peace statement." A government spokesman said he knew nothing about it, but other sources thought it "quite probable."

The News said the second statement might indicate whether Chiang Kai-Shek will quit the presidency. It adder officials hoped the statement would persuade the reds to abandon their "militaristic tactics."

Heavy Fighting Near Tientsin

Chiang's New Year's offer to negotiate brought first a barrage of criticism from the Red radio, and then a barrage of artillery fire from Comunist gunners in the north and on the Central front.

Reports reaching Nanking from Tientsin said heavy fighting was in progress on the city's defense perimeter. There were indications the Reds were ready to carry the city by assault.

Associated Press Correspondent Spencer Moosa, in Peiping, quoted pro-government reports that the Nationalists were forced back on the south.

Gen. Lin Piao, the Red general from Manchuria, was said to have massed 120,000 veteran troops for the assault. Red shells were exploding in the factory district of Tientsin's southern suburbs.

Former Suchow Force Riddled

On the front north of Nanking, the former Suchow garrison was melting away under renewed assault by encircling Reds, informed sources said. Hunger and bullets were forcing the soldiers to quit. Complete surrender was predicted by the end of the week.

No more than 150,000 remained of the original force of 250,000 which Chiang had counted on to move south from Suchow and help hold the Yangtze River line, they added.

One unconfirmed report said Gen. Tu Li-Ming, commander of the trapped forces, had taken off by plane from a small air strip inside his lines and had reached Nanking.

Reorganization Power For President Favored

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover said today that he will recommend restoration of the President's authority to reorganize the government through executive orders.

The only living former President went to the White House to get the President's view before disclosing his decision as chairman of the bi-partisan committee on reorganization of the executive branch.

Emerging from the President's office, Mr. Hoover told reporters he had conferred with the Chief Executive on only one matter.

He recalled that President Roosevelt formerly had authority to reorganize the government subject to congressional veto, but that authority expired last April.

Bogart Has Son, Wins $10 Bet With Truman

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 7. (AP)—Humphrey Bogart, film actor has a baby today—and 10 bucks coming from the President of the United States.

He and Lauren Bacall are the parents of a son, Stephen Humphrey, their first. Stephen was born last night at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, and weighed six pounds, six ounces. The jubilant Bogart related today President Truman bet him the baby would be a girl.

Bogart, who bet on Truman, saw the President here shortly before the election. "He'd better pay me, too," said Bogey.

France Bans Two U. S. Anti-Russian Movies

PARIS, Jan. 7 (AP) — France has banned two of Hollywood's anti-Soviet films as likely to cause riots, it was learned today.

An authoritative source identified the two films as "Ninotchka" and "The Iron Curtain." The United States Embassy is trying to get the decision reversed.

Rededication Set

Philadelphia To Welcome Returning Freedom Train

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 7 (AP)—The Freedom Train, America's history on wheels, returns tomorrow to the place of its beginning in the final chapter of a 16-month criss-crossing pilgrimage through 35,000 miles of the United States.

The great red, white and blue train, with its priceless cargo of documents, shares top billing with the gala mummers parade which was postponed on New Year's Day after bad weather threatened.

Parade and Freedom Train officials say they have worked out a schedule to avoid any conflict of the two events.

Impressive ceremonies will highlight the city's welcome to the returning train which began its tour here September 17, 1947.

A formal rededication service will start at 10 a. m. (Eastern Standard Time) tomorrow when disabled war veterans, escorted by color guards, bands and drum corps, march from City Hall to the train platform.

Shortly after the Freedom Train ceremonies are completed, the gaily garbed mummers will strut their string bands up Broad Street past the reviewing stand at City Hall.

Mummers officials said a record number of 36 string bands, comic clubs and fancy clubs will high step along the eight-mile line of march to the tunes of "O Dem Golden Slippers," "Four Leaf Clover" and other traditional mummers' tunes.

But while the mummers colorful parade, dating back to colonial times will be a one-day affair, the Freedom Train will make a six-day visit with each marked by special ceremonies.

The train, which has visited 322 cities in every state of the union, recently had its tour extended to include presidential inaugural week in Washington.

After the inaugural week showing, the cargo of historical documents will be removed and the train disbanded

Athens, O., Woman Is Murdered By "Maniac"

ATHENS, O., Jan. 7 (AP) — The body of a woman who led Athens children to clean lives through the power of her love and attention rested in a morgue today, killed by a "maniac."

The killer of 52-year-old Eleanor E. Gifford must have been a maniac, said Coroner John H. Elias. He ruled her death homicide.

The motive must have been robbery, said Sheriff George Bateman. The woman's purse and 1948 automobile she used in her rounds of friendly visits are missing.

Coroner Elias, considering the love which this and nearby communities bore Miss Gifford, said of the unidentified slayer:

"He must have been nuts."

Attorney Is Job-Hunting After Winning Freedom

NORFOLK, Mass., Jan. 7. (AP)—John F. Noxon, 52, prominent Pittsfield attorney, today won a four and a half year fight for freedom after his conviction of murdering his mentally-deficient infant son—and immediately began job-hunting.

"I don't know what I'm going to do but I've got do do something," he told newsmen as he walked out of the state prison colony gates under parole made possible by two commutations, one of which saved him from electrocution.

"I am going to talk with some friends about what work I'll do," Noxon said, adding: "I am also going to confer with the parole board about whether I can return to my law practice. I haven't decided definitely about law but it is doubtful that I would go into public practice."

His attractive wife, Margaret, who has stood by him since his arrest in September, 1943, greeted him with a light kiss on the lips as the tall, bald attorney walked to freedom on his two heavy canes. Noxon was stricken with infantile paralysis when a young man.

He was sentenced to the electric chair on July 7, 1944 after he was convicted of charges that he wrapped a frayed electric light cord about his child's arms and then placed him—with diapers wet—on a silver serving tray to form a contact.

Martin Hails Foreign Committee Agreement

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (AP) — Republican Leader Martin (Mass) hailed today an agreement by Democratic leaders to let 11 Republicans serve on the House Foreign Affairs Committee. Martin called it "a continuation of the spirit of the bi-partisan foreign policy."

The Republicans assigned 11 Democrats to this committee when they were in power in the last Congress.

Democrats will have 14 members on Foreign Affairs.

Pilot Killed

Jet Plane Crash Marks All American Air Races

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 7 (AP)—A jet-propelled "Shooting Star" fighter plane crashed and exploded only eight seconds away from a crowd of 5,000 persons at the All American Air Maneuvers today.

The Air Force pilot was killed. His name was not learned immediately.

His plane fell a mile and a half from the grandstand, and no spectators were hurt.

The accident occurred as a V-formation of nine jets roared at 450 miles an hour toward the field from the west. They were in a shallow dive only 500 feet above the ground. There was a sudden flash and billowing flames.

Lt. Col. Clarke Newlon, public information officer for the 336th Squadron, Fourth Fighter Group, Andrews Field, Md., to which the plane belonged, said an elevator came off the F-80 and threw it to the earth. The explosion came with the impact, he said

The other eight planes of the formation swept at breath-taking speed over the grandstand.

The 17th annual All American Air Maneuvers started with a parachute jump by Roy W. Grant, Leesburg, Fla., about two hours before the crash.

Two heats of the Continental Trophy Race had been run off before the jets took the air.

T. B. Heisel, Gainesville, Fla., won the first heat of the trophy race for planes powered with engines of 190 cubic inch displacement or less. Heisel flew his little craft eight times around the two mile course at an average speed of 170.162 miles an hour.

The second heat was won by S. J. Witman, Oshkosh, Wis., with an average speed of 176.687 miles an hour.

Defending Champion Bill Brennand, Oshkosh, Wis., won the third heat with an average speed of 174.545.

Family Tragedy On Lofty Bridge Leaves Two Dead

NEW YORK, Jan. 7. (AP)—A truck driver hurled his young son and daughter from a bridge 175 feet to the ground today and then jumped to his own death.

The boy also was killed. The girl was taken to a hospital in critical condition.

A short while before the tragedy, the father, identified as Gabriel Nicoletti, 37, a truck-driver, had taken his children, Arthur, 8, and Gail, 6, to a Roman Catholic Church where he had taught them to make the sign of the cross.

Police said an unidentified motorist reported he saw a man throw a boy and a girl over the railing of the Kosciusko bridge, connecting Brooklyn and Queens. Then, the motorist said, the man jumped.

An emergency police squad found the three bodies sprawled about 100 feet from the creek. The girl still breathed.

Rev. Harold Buetow, of St. Cecilia's Roman Catholic Church, Brooklyn, rushed to the scene and administered the last rites of the church to Nicoletti and his son.

"It was very pathetic to see those two beautiful children," Father Buetow said. "This man had been in the church shortly before he took the children to the bridge. They were at the crib. He was teaching the children to make the sign of the cross."

Father Buetown said when they left the church, they walked in the direction of the bridge.

"When I got there," he said, "the boy and the man were dead. I attended them and then rushed to the hospital to attend the girl. The man must have been out of his mind."

Paralyzed Ex-Harbor Pilot Burned To Death

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex., Jan. 7 (AP)—A 64-year-old paralyzed ex-harbor pilot was burned to death today after he tried to summon aid, probably for an hour, as he watched the fire creep closer.

Officers, reconstructing Capt. Ben Anderson's last minutes, said that he apparently fired four shots at a nearby telephone, sounded the buzzer to the servants' quarters and pounded on the wall with his cane.

A neighbor, Burton Dunn, bank vice president, was awakened about 2 a. m., aroused servants and attempted to rescue Captain Anderson. The flames from the bedroom drove them back.

They found Captain Anderson's 96-year-old blind and deaf father groping his way wrom his bedroom in another wing of the house. He was taken to a hospital suffering from shock and smoke in his lungs.

Fire Marshall Joe Fogaley said the fire apparently started from a cigaret the paralyzed man was smoking.

Illegal Drugs Seized; Luciano Is Accused

NEW YORK, Jan. 7 (AP)—Customs agents seized a huge quantity of narcotics aboard a French freighter here today. An official charged that Charles "Lucky" Luciano, former New York underworld character, was involved in the shipment and previous ones.

Herman Lipsky, deputy surveyor in charge of the narcotics enforcement division here, said today's shipment was worth $300,000 and was "the biggest seizure since the start of World War II." He added that more than $10,000,000 worth of illegal drugs had been intercepted in New York alone during the past year.

Luciano's name was brought into the matter by Charles E. Wyatt, supervising customs agent.

Wyatt said there is "positive information in the files of the customs service that Luciano is involved in all illegal transfers of narcotics from Italy and other Mediterranean countries to this country in recent years."

Truman Advisers Back Flexible Farm Supports

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (AP)—Flexible farm price supports received flat endorsement from President Truman's economic advisers today—but they failed to calm the uproar over the plan within Capitol Hill's farm bloc.

A powerful group wants to continue rigid supports at 90 per cent of parity, although many other legislators favor supports on a sliding scale.

Chairman Thomas (D-Okla.), of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said the economic report by the White House Advisory Council was "glittering generalities" insofar as the crop props were concerned.

Rep. Murray (R-Wis.), a member of the House Agriculture Committee, said the "trouble with the report is that it probably was written by persons who haven't been very close to the problems of farmers."

PARIS, Jan. 7 (AP) — Mathilde (The Cat) Carre was sentenced to death today for betraying her countrymen to the Nazis.

She was charged with sending 35 French occupation resistance workers to their deaths.

Gov. Lane Labors Over Administration Program

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 7 (AP)—With the senators and delegates of the new General Assembly session home for a long weekend, all was quiet in the State House today—on the surface.

Gov. Lane spent a busy day in his office, however, as did Louis J. O'Donnell, assistant to the Governor.

In the old House chamber, where Dr. Horace E. Flack and his assistants in the Department of Legislative Reference now have their office, a full force was at work, whipping proposed legislation into "annotated code" language.

The Governor labored over the administration program to be presented during the 90-day session which got underway Wednesday.

TRUMAN ASKS CONGRESS TO EXTEND RENT CURBS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (AP)—President Truman asked Congress today for a two-year extension of rent controls along with "prompt and bold action" to ease the housing shortage.

He said, too, that enforcement of the present rent-control law, which expires March 31, should be strengthened.

Sen. Myers (D-Pa), assistant Democratic leader, said he would introduce legislation next week to extend rent control.

Expressing concern over the housing situation, Mr. Truman said in his annual economic report to Congress:

1. The construction industry has been "pricing itself out of the market for all but expensive homes."
2. New housing has been "falling off rapidly" since last May.
3. Present housing prices are "grossly inflated."

"At this time of national stock-taking, I urge all elements of the building industry substantially to lower costs so that housing production may reach new record levels," the President said.

Again, as in his address to Congress on Wednesday, Mr. Truman recommended immediate passage of a housing bill to provide 1,000,000 low-cost housing units within seven years. Such a bill has already been introduced in the 81st Congress. It provides for public housing slum clearance and farm home construction.

Too Many Local Bills, Sherbow Tells Mayors

BALTIMORE, Jan. 7 (AP)—Judge Joseph Sherbow, of the Supreme Bench of Baltimore, tonight challenged mayors and other officials of Maryland's towns to remedy the "intolerable situation" which puts too much local legisation in the hands of the General Assemlbly.

Judge Sherbow spoke to the newly-formed Maryland League of Municipalities which opened its first convention here today.

"Home rule is bound to come," Judge Sherbow said. "Real local self-government in Maryland is not far away. The only question is how soon."

U. S. Urged To Cut Off Aid To Netherlands

BUCK HILL FALLS, Pa., Jan. 7 (AP)—The largest Protestant agency in North America called upon the United States today to cut off Marshall Plan aid to the Netherlands until that country withdraws from Indonesia.

Leaders of the Foreign Missions Conference commended the United States government for its stated policy during the "present emergency in Indonesia" and added:

"We respectfully urge that the United States continue unwaveringly in this attitude even though it may have to stand alone among the great powers in refusing to buttress colonialism in Indonesia.

Mercury Drops 20 To 30 Degrees In Midwest As Cold Front Edges In

[By The Associated Press]

A cold front edged into the north central states from Canada Friday, dropping temperatur 20 to 30 degrees.

In advance of the cold area, the nation from the Rockies to the Atlantic coast enjoyed unseasonally high temperatures, with much of the blizzard-stricken West experiencing spring-like readings and a thawing of the heavy snow cover deposited earlier this week.

The cold front is accompanied by little snow, and no high winds, the United States Weather Bureau said. A drop of 20 to 30 degrees was expected through the Dakotas and Minnesota Friday night and Saturday, and over Wisconsin and the Great Lakes region Saturday and Saturday night.

Nevertheless, no extremely cold readings were forecast, since temperatures in the area were as much as 35 degrees above normal Friday in advance of the cold front. The normal minimum temperature in North Dakota and Minnesota is one below zero at this time of year, and the normal maximum around 10 to 15 above. Norms for South Dakota are only slightly higher.

Friday, Pierre, S. D., had a high of 43; Rapid City had 50, and Bismarck, N. D., had 45. But directly north of Bismarck, where the cold wave had started to move in, Minot, N. D., had 26.

Temperatures in the blizzard area had risen "remarkably" by Friday, a Weather Bureau spokesman said, with the snow decreasing in volume and becoming wet as it thawed. Rather high winds still prevailed in that section, but there was no drifting because of the wetness of the snow cover.

In other sections, Friday's weather was wonderful. Sunny skies and balmy temperatures combined to give the Midwest, Southeast and East coast a foretaste of spring. Samples included 74 degrees at Miami; 64 at Charleston, S. C., and Richmond, Va.; 63 at Jacksonville, Fla.; 60 at New Orleans and Washington, D. C.; 5[illegible] at Quincy, Ill.; 52 at Kansas City, and New York; 51 at Chicago; 50 at Pittsburgh; 49 at Omaha, 47 at Boston, and 39 at Buffalo, N. Y.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7. (AP)—Two Russian fliers who fled from the Soviet air force to Austria will be permitted to come to the United States as visitors, the State Department disclosed today.

Instructions were sent yesterday to the American consul at Frankfort, Germany, to grant visitors visas to them.

The refugees, Anatalya Barsov, 31, and Piotr Pirogov, 27, landed their Soviet plane October 9 at an American Army occupation field near Linz, in the United States zone of Austria. Both were Russian air force lieutenants.

Split Develops Over Ways Of Raising Truman's Pay

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (AP)—House Democratic and Republican leaders agreed today that President Truman ought to get more money but split over ways of raising his income.

Democratic Leader McCormack, of Massachusetts, told the House a bill to give the President more probably will be taken up next week Acting Republican Leader Halleck, of Indiana, agreed to that procedure.

The President now gets a $75,000-a-year salary but taxes take about $35,000 of that. There have been various proposals for boosting his income, either through a salary raise or a big tax-free expense fund.

for a President to apply to an associate. He said that Marshall was virtually an "indispensable man" and that he had hoped the General would be able to continue as Secretary of State after recovering from the kidney operation he underwent December 7.

Truman Praises Marshall

Now, however, the President said in his letter to Marshall, he is "unwilling to assume the responsibility of further jeopardizing your health." Marshall is at Pinehurst, N. C., where he is slowly convalescing. He said he had no immediate plans for the future.

To reporters at a news conference, Mr. Truman remarked "I think Gen. Marshall is the outstanding man of the war period."

In accepting Lovett's resignation, Mr. Truman addressed him warmly as "My Dear Bob" and praised him for "the highest intellectual integrity x x x untiring industry, outstanding ability and selfless devotion to the public interest."

During the election campaigns, there were widespread reports that Mr. Truman was bitter about Lovett's actions in balking several proposed moves in foreign policy. Both Marshall and Lovett held aloof from the presidential campaign. The President, however, denounced reports that he was displeased with Lovett and his letter today gave no hint of unfriendliness.

Almost the first question put to the President after he read out his list of changes at the news conference was whether the shakeup in the foreign policy high command would mean any shifts in the policy itself, particularly along the line forecast by Newspaper Columnist Jay Franklin in today's Life magazine.

Mr. Truman replied that the change in personnel meant absolutely no change in policy. He then went on to deny Franklin's article as without foundation. The newspaper columnist, who helped write some of Mr. Truman's campaign speeches, asserted that the President was fighting in his own Cabinet to soften this nation's "tough" policy toward Russia.

Denmark Expects Bid

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Jan. 7 (AP) — A Foreign Office spokesman said tonight Denmark expects an official invitation to join the proposed North Atlantic alliance talks in Washington within three weeks.

He said that the United States government had asked Denmark some time ago whether it would accept an invitation.

President Sets

In today's mesage, Mr. Truman skirted direct reference to the size of his new budget which some Democrats say will call for about $41,900,000,000 for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Much of the President's economic report went over the same ground covered in his "state of the union" address, but this time he bore down far harder on economic factors.

In general, he found that the nation is enjoying a period of "bountiful prosperity." He noted that the long rise in prices has been "halted or reversed" in wider areas of the national economy, and he said this marks the beginning of a "process" by which more stable condition can be reached.

Looking ahead, Mr. Truman predicted new job and production records in 1949. He set these goals for the year: A level of 60,000,000 civilians at work; plus a three to four per cent boost in production.

Refugees Bombed, Egypt Says

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (AP)—Egypt charged tonight that the Israeli air force bombed civilian refuge camps in the Egyptian zone of Palestine shortly after the United Nations truce went into effect today.

The Egyptian ambasador, Kamil Abdul Rahim Bey, said the attack was made against civilian objectives in Deir El Balah. He said more than 100 persons were killed.

Family Tragedy On Lofty Bridge Leaves Two Dead

NEW YORK, Jan. 7. (AP)—A truck driver hurled his young son and daughter from a bridge 175 feet to the ground today and then jumped to his own death.

The boy also was killed. The girl was taken to a hospital in critical condition.

A short while before the tragedy, the father, identified as Gabriel Nicoletti, 37, a truck-driver, had taken his children, Arthur, 8, and Gail, 6, to a Roman Catholic Church where he had taught them to make the sign of the cross.

Police said an unidentified motorist reported he saw a man throw a boy and a girl over the railing of the Kosciusko bridge, connecting Brooklyn and Queens. Then, the motorist said, the man jumped.

An emergency police squad found the three bodies sprawled about 100 feet from the creek. The girl still breathed.

Rev. Harold Buetow, of St. Cecilia's Roman Catholic Church, Brooklyn, rushed to the scene and administered the last rites of the church to Nicoletti and his son.

"It was very pathetic to see those two beautiful children," Father Buetow said. "This man had been in the church shortly before he took the children to the bridge. They were at the crib. He was teaching the children to make the sign of the cross."

Father Buetown said when they left the church, they walked in the direction of the bridge.

"When I got there," he said, "the boy and the man were dead. I attended them and then rushed to the hospital to attend the girl. The man must have been out of his mind."

Paralyzed Ex-Harbor Pilot Burned To Death

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex., Jan. 7 (AP)—A 64-year-old paralyzed ex-harbor pilot was burned to death today after he tried to summon aid, probably for an hour, as he watched the fire creep closer.

Officers, reconstructing Capt. Ben Anderson's last minutes, said that he apparently fired four shots at a nearby telephone, sounded the buzzer to the servants' quarters and pounded on the wall with his cane.

A neighbor, Burton Dunn, bank vice president, was awakened about 2 a. m., aroused servants and attempted to rescue Captain Anderson. The flames from the bedroom drove them back.

They found Captain Anderson's 96-year-old blind and deaf father groping his way wrom his bedroom in another wing of the house. He was taken to a hospital suffering from shock and smoke in his lungs.

Fire Marshall Joe Fogaley said the fire apparently started from a cigaret the paralyzed man was smoking.

Illegal Drugs Seized; Luciano Is Accused

NEW YORK, Jan. 7 (AP)—Customs agents seized a huge quantity of narcotics aboard a French freighter here today. An official charged that Charles "Lucky" Luciano, former New York underworld character, was involved in the shipment and previous ones.

Herman Lipsky, deputy surveyor in charge of the narcotics enforcement division here, said today's shipment was worth $300,000 and was "the biggest seizure since the start of World War II." He added that more than $10,000,000 worth of illegal drugs had been intercepted in New York alone during the past year.

Luciano's name was brought into the matter by Charles E. Wyatt, supervising customs agent.

Wyatt said there is "positive information in the files of the customs service that Luciano is involved in all illegal transfers of narcotics from Italy and other Mediterranean countries to this country in recent years."

Truman Advisers Back Flexible Farm Supports

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (AP)—Flexible farm price supports received flat endorsement from President Truman's economic advisers today—but they failed to calm the uproar over the plan within Capitol Hill's farm bloc.

A powerful group wants to continue rigid supports at 90 per cent of parity, although many other legislators favor supports on a sliding scale.

Chairman Thomas (D-Okla.), of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said the economic report by the White House Advisory Council was "glittering generalities" insofar as the crop props were concerned.

Rep. Murray (R-Wis.), a member of the House Agriculture Committee, said the "trouble with the report is that it probably was written by persons who haven't been very close to the problems of farmers."

Death For Betrayer

PARIS, Jan. 7 (AP) — Mathilde (The Cat) Carre was sentenced to death today for betraying her countrymen to the Nazis.

She was charged with sending 35 French occupation resistance workers to their deaths.

Gov. Lane Labors Over Administration Program

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 7 (AP)—With the senators and delegates of the new General Assembly session home for a long weekend, all was quiet in the State House today—on the surface.

Gov. Lane spent a busy day in his office, however, as did Louis J. O'Donnell, assistant to the Governor.

In the old House chamber, where Dr. Horace E. Flack and his assistants in the Department of Legislative Reference now have their office, a full force was at work, whipping proposed legislation into "annotated code" language.

The Governor labored over the administration program to be presented during the 90-day session which got underway Wednesday.

TRUMAN ASKS CONGRESS TO EXTEND RENT CURBS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (AP)—President Truman asked Congress today for a two-year extension of rent controls along with "prompt and bold action" to ease the housing shortage.

He said, too, that enforcement of the present rent-control law, which expires March 31, should be strengthened.

Sen. Myers (D-Pa), assistant Democratic leader, said he would introduce legislation next week to extend rent control.

Expressing concern over the housing situation, Mr. Truman said in his annual economic report to Congress:

1. The construction industry has been "pricing itself out of the market for all but expensive homes."
2. New housing has been "falling off rapidly" since last May.
3. Present housing prices are "grossly inflated."

"At this time of national stock-taking, I urge all elements of the building industry substantially to lower costs so that housing production may reach new record levels," the President said.

Again, as in his address to Congress on Wednesday, Mr. Truman recommended immediate passage of a housing bill to provide 1,000,000 low-cost housing units within seven years. Such a bill has already been introduced in the 81st Congress. It provides for public housing slum clearance and farm home construction.

Too Many Local Bills, Sherbow Tells Mayors

BALTIMORE, Jan. 7 (AP)—Judge Joseph Sherbow, of the Supreme Bench of Baltimore, tonight challenged mayors and other officials of Maryland's towns to remedy the "intolerable situation" which puts too much local legisation in the hands of the General Assemlbly.

Judge Sherbow spoke to the newly-formed Maryland League of Municipalities which opened its first convention here today.

"Home rule is bound to come," Judge Sherbow said. "Real local self-government in Maryland is not far away. The only question is how soon."

U. S. Urged To Cut Off Aid To Netherlands

BUCK HILL FALLS, Pa., Jan. 7 (AP)—The largest Protestant agency in North America called upon the United States today to cut off Marshall Plan aid to the Netherlands until that country withdraws from Indonesia.

Leaders of the Foreign Missions Conference commended the United States government for its stated policy during the "present emergency in Indonesia" and added:

"We respectfully urge that the United States continue unwaveringly in this attitude even though it may have to stand alone among the great powers in refusing to buttress colonialism in Indonesia.

Mercury Drops 20 To 30 Degrees In Midwest As Cold Front Edges In

[By The Associated Press]

A cold front edged into the north central states from Canada Friday, dropping temperatur 20 to 30 degrees.

In advance of the cold area, the nation from the Rockies to the Atlantic coast enjoyed unseasonally high temperatures, with much of the blizzard-stricken West experiencing spring-like readings and a thawing of the heavy snow cover deposited earlier this week.

The cold front is accompanied by little snow, and no high winds, the United States Weather Bureau said. A drop of 20 to 30 degrees was expected through the Dakotas and Minnesota Friday night and Saturday, and over Wisconsin and the Great Lakes region Saturday and Saturday night.

Nevertheless, no extremely cold readings were forecast, since temperatures in the area were as much as 35 degrees above normal Friday in advance of the cold front. The normal minimum temperature in North Dakota and Minnesota is one below zero at this time of year, and the normal maximum around 10 to 15 aboves Norms for South Dakota are only slightly higher.

Friday, Pierre, S. D., had a high of 43; Rapid City had 50, and Bismarck, N. D., had 45. But directly north of Bismarck, where the cold wave had started to move in, Minot, N. D., had 26.

Temperatures in the blizzard area had risen "remarkably" by Friday, a Weather Bureau spokesman said, with the snow decreasing in volume and becoming wet as it thawed. Rather high winds still prevailed in that section, but there was no drifting because of the wetness of the snow cover.

In other sections, Friday's weather was wonderful. Sunny skies and balmy temperatures combined to give the Midwest, Southeast and East coast a foretaste of spring. Samples included 74 degrees at Miami; 64 at Charleston, S. C., and Richmond, Va.; 63 at Jacksonville, Fla.; 60 at New Orleans and Washington, D. C.; 57 at Quincy, Ill.; 52 at Kansas City, and New York; 51 at Chicago; 50 at Pittsburgh; 49 at Omaha, 47 at Boston, and 39 at Buffalo, N. Y.

Fliers Who Fled Russia Will Visit This Country

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7. (AP)—Two Russian fliers who fled from the Soviet air force to Austria will be permitted to come to the United States as visitors, the State Department disclosed today.

Instructions were sent yesterday to the American consul at Frankfort, Germany, to grant visitors visas to them.

The refugees, Anatalya Barsov, 31, and Piotr Pirogov, 27, landed their Soviet plane October 9 at an American Army occupation field near Linz, in the United States zone of Austria. Both were Russian air force lieutenants.

Voiture 164 Makes Halloween Plans

Plans are already underway for the Voiture 164, Forty and Eight, second annual Halloween parade and mardi gras.

Edgar Reynolds has been appointed general chairman for the event by Charles W. O'Donnell, chef de gare of the society. Among chairmen named by Reynolds are Frederick A. Puderbaugh, finance; C. William Teubner, decorations; Clyde Kuhns, prizes; Charles G. Smith, judges; and Thomas F. Conlon, parade marshal.

It is planned to raise funds through donations from local fraternal, veterans and civic groups. The money will be used to provide cash prizes for musical organizations and floats in the parade.

Reynolds said plans are being made to make the Halloween celebration here one of the largest events of the year. Street dancing will be held after the parade and clubs will be asked to have dancing the same night.

Baltimore Street will be decorated and business firms will be asked to set aside windows for Halloween displays. The early announcement of the program was decided upon so that as many of the musical groups of this area as possible may prepare to take part in the parade. Clubs will also have plenty of time to decide what type floats to enter in the parade.

An early meeting of the various chairmen and committee members will be called to lay plans for carrying out the program, according to Reynolds.

Frostburg Youths Join Navy Here

Two 18-year-old Frostburg youths have enlisted for two years in the Navy at the local recruiting station, according to Chief Robert Belknap, officer in charge.

They are Odell Otis Jenkins, 41 West Loo Street, Frostburg, and Larry Steven Briner, Frostburg. Both were sent to Great Lakes Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

Garnett Edward Rawlings, 31, 515 Greene Street, was fined $11.45 yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court on a reckless driving charge resulting from injury to a 15-year-old girl. He pleaded not guilty.

State Police said the panel truck operated by Rawlings struck Barbara Ann Zollner, Cresaptown, after she alighted from a school bus near her home at 5:40 p. m. Thursday. She was admitted to Allegany Hospital with abrasions, contusions of both legs and shock. Her condition is satisfactory.

Trooper Harry S. Bosley, who investigated, said the girl apparently walked to the rear of the bus and then started to cross the highway near the intersection of Routes 220 and 53. The car traveled "16 paces" after striking the girl, he added.

Last Track Fund Check Arrives

A total of $100,000 in race track funds has been received from the state by Allegany County with the arrival of a $67,641 final check yesterday.

The check will be distributed to incorporated towns and the county itself on the basis of population. The first check received in 1948 was for $33,217.48 and was sent to Allegany County in June.

Race track revenue for the county showed a drop as approximately $114,000 was received for 1947. This was part of the trend of lower betting and subsequent lower state tax money available for distribution.

The tax will be distributed as follows: Luke, $768.40; Westernport, $2,772.61; Lonaconing, $1,889.72; Barton, $607.42; Frostburg, $5,956.48; Midland, $722.14; and Cumberland, $30,707.04. The county will get $24,212.82 as its share. The above sums will be allocated from the latest check received.

The total for the year which the various towns receive are as follows: Luke, $1,145.75; Westernport, $4,134.20; Lonaconing, $2,816.98; Barton, $905.71; Frostburg, $8,881.61; Midland, $1,084.22 and Cumberland, $45,786.78. The county total is $36,103.35.

The money sent to the county and allocated to the municipalities is part of the general system of redistribution of state revenues under the Sherbow Plan inaugurated several years ago

County Tables Road Workers Holiday Motion

Commissioner William H. Lemmert moved yesterady to table for further study a motion by Charles N. Wilkinson, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, to provide for seven paid holidays for county road department workers.

Wilkenson stated that city and state roads workers receive paid holidays and listed Christmas New Years, Memorial Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Armistice Day and Thanksgiving as the holidays under his proposal.

$66,599.45 Paid In County License Fees

Of the $66,599.45 received by the office of the Allegany County Clerk from licenses issued during the last fiscal yeai, one-half came from trader's licenses.

The annual report of the State Comptroller's office shows that Allegany county had the second highest revenue in the state with Baltimore county topping the receipts with a total of $9' 642.61. Washington county was a close third with $63,985.35.

Recording fees amounted to $12,058.97. Cigaret sales resulted in $17,068.27 in receipts. Traders licenses amounted to $31,600 of the total.

In all, this county's clerk of court office received money for 24 different types of licenses during the year. The only others to provide more than $1,000 each were soda water fountain, restaurant, music box, construction firm, and chain store.

This county didn't get a cent from crab dealers or clammers but detective agencies checked in with $190 in license fees.

Voiture 164 Makes Halloween Plans

Plans are already underway for the Voiture 164, Forty and Eight, second annual Halloween parade and mardi gras.

Edgar Reynolds has been appointed general chairman for the event by Charles W. O'Donnell, chef de gare of the society. Among chairmen named by Reynolds are Frederick A. Puderbaugh, finance; C. William Teubner, decorations; Clyde Kuhns, prizes; Charles G. Smith, judges; and Thomas F. Conlon, parade marshal.

It is planned to raise funds through donations from local fraternal, veterans and civic groups. The money will be used to provide cash prizes for musical organizations and floats in the parade.

Reynolds said plans are being made to make the Halloween celebration here one of the largest events of the year. Street dancing will be held after the parade and clubs will be asked to have dancing the same night.

Baltimore Street will be decorated and business firms will be asked to set aside windows for Halloween displays. The early announcement of the program was decided upon so that as many of the musical groups of this area as possible may prepare to take part in the parade. Clubs will also have plenty of time to decide what type floats to enter in the parade.

An early meeting of the various chairmen and committee members will be called to lay plans for carrying out the program, according to Reynolds.

Easing Of House Rules Has Its Good And Bad Side

There is natural rejoicing in the Administration camp over the action of the House in curbing the powers of its Rules Committee. Because the new Rules Committee will include some of the Southern Democrats who would vote with Republican members, President Truman has feared that many controversial Administration bills might be held up indefinitely.

In practice, the Rules Committee is the most powerful committee in Congress. It not only fixes the timetable for action in the House. It can kill legislation simply by pigeonholing it. It can also forbid amendments and can limit debate on measures sent to the House floor. Indeed, thanks to its latent powers it can demand that any measure it votes out be stripped of provisions which it does not approve.

Under the changes just voted by the House, the Rules Committee can hold up a bill for only 21 days. After that a sponsor of a bottled-up bill, if he wins majority support in the House, can get the bill out on the floor for debate and vote.

Some Democrats, with heady enthusiasm, are already predicting a return to the well-greased efficiency of the days of "Uncle Joe" Cannon. But the constant threat of a coalition of most Republicans and many Southern Democrats will probably prevent anything like that. True, the vote of 275 to 142 in favor of weakening the Rules Committee was most gratifying to the White House. But a number of Republicans, and even some conservative Democrats, voted for the change because they honestly believe the committee had abused its powers in the past.

Another point to remember is that this easing of the House rules can work two ways. The Rules Committee has been stripped of power to hold back measures which the Administration wants. But it has also lost the power to hold up measures, urged by a possible Republican-Southern Democratic coalition, that the Administration does not want. Like any other reform, this one has its bad as well as its good side for the reformers.

Six Months Of Socialized Medicine In Great Britain

If the new Congress takes a lesson from British experience with socialized medicine it will drop the Administration proposal for Federal sickness insurance like a hot coal.

In effect since July 5, 1948, the British plan is already under heavy fire from foes and one-time friends. In October its radical sponsor, Health Minister Aneurin Bevan, complained that the whole scheme might break down because of "exorbitant demands" put upon it by the public. Doctors' offices have been jammed with people seeking treatment, at government expense, for minor or imaginary ills, while doctors are unable to give proper care to the really sick. It seems never to have occurred to Mr. Bevan that a scheme which invites public abuse might actually receive it.

British doctors and dentists complain bitterly that under the state-pay system they are overworked and underpaid. To make an "adequate" living—defined in Britain as $8,000 a year—a physician must have around 4,000 patients. Such a load, according to the authoritative medical weekly, the Lancet, means a dangerously overworked doctor and "inadequate personal care" for his patients. To this Bevan replies, in characteristic vein, that the British public "must not be hypochondriacs"—and proposes to cut payments to the dentists.

Some 18,000 of Britain's 23,000 physicians have "voluntarily" signed up, realizing that most of their patients would not pay bills when the government offers to do so. But there is growing inside as well as outside opposition to the plan. A fellowship of Freedom in Medicine has been organized by Lord Horder, physician to the royal family. National health service is also opposed by the British Medical Association, and, in its present form, even by a Socialist medical group.

Britain's version of socialized medicine is more far-reaching than the plan now being urged upon Congress. But British experiences over the years shows how an opening wedge toward state medicine can be steadily widened by inside pressure.

Name On T-H Law Will Be Changed, For That's Politics

Among the best-conducted of all labor unions is the International Ladies' Garment Workers Union. It is responsible, it is reasonable, and its word is always good. Under David Dubinsky, it seems to have solved, or almost so, the problems of labor and management. What its general executive board recommends to the new Congress is therefore worthy of note:

It would require anti-Communist affidavits from labor leaders.

It would require anti-Communist affidavits from employers.

It would continue the present bans against secondary boycotts.

It would create boards to settle jurisdictional disputes.

It would continue the right of employers to petition for labor-board elections to determine bargaining agents.

It would call upon employers and unions to file comprehensive financial reports.

It would subject disputes in public utilities and other vital enterprises to the cooling-off and fact-finding procedure which is now the law for railway labor.

It would discontinue the ban on the closed shop.

Sounds familiar? Yes, quite so. In all the above respects except the last named, this is the Taft-Hartley Act, with a single addition—requiring all anti-Communist affidavits from employers—which the Republicans themselves would propose were they a majority now in Congress.

Thus the clearest-headed of all the unions recognizes what was disclosed by repeated polls last year, that the union rank-and-file liked nearly everything in the present labor act. Its board formally indorses the principle that management and labor must be subject to the same responsibilities and restraints. That's the Taft-Hartley Act in a nutshell. Of course the name will be changed, for that's politics. But what else?

HOW TO KEEP WELL

(Copyright: 1949: By The Chicago Tribune)

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Hardened Arteries and Apoplexy

Approximately 90 per cent of all cases of apoplexy are due either to cerebral hemorrhage or cerebral thrombosis. In the first disturbance, a vessel ruptures and, as the oozing blood accumulates, it presses upon vital tissues. In the second, a clot forms within an artery and shuts off the circulation to a portion of the brain. The result is the same, regardless of the origin, but the outcome is contingent upon the size of the blood channel involved and whether an important center is affected.

Dr. Van Dellen

The mishap is encountered more frequently after the age of 50, but whether or not it occurs depends upon the condition of the arteries. In most instances, these structures have hardened through the aging process, which makes the inner wall rough and thus encourages clot formation (thrombus). The pathways also become less elastic and somewhat brittle, causing them to be more susceptible to rupture and hemorrhage.

High blood pressure and strokes often go hand in hand but the height of the reading is not as significant as the state of the blood vessels. This has been demonstrated on numerous occasions and it should be encouraging to individuals with hypertension to realize that strokes are almost as common when the pressure is normal as when it is high. In addition, many with excessive readings never experience this complication because the arteries can withstand the elevated pressure.

A cerebral hemorrhage or thrombosis is often preceded be headache, dizziness, drowsiness, and mental confusion. These are not specific manifestations, however, as they arise in other disorders but they should never be neglected by one who is a potential candidate. Others notice a transient loss of speech or weakness in an arm or leg. Should such symptoms appear, a physician should be called because now and then a catastrophe can be avoided by going to bed for a day or two and taking medicine to assure relaxation.

Should a clot of hemorrhage occur, the sufferer usually complains of severe headache and then lapses into coma. Sometimes this is preceded or followed by vomiting and convulsions. The temperature, pulse, and respiration increase. Many develop paralysis immediately, with or without speech defects. This series of events begins suddenly and reaches its climax in a varying length of time—within a few minutes or hours, at most. At this stage the life of the patient is at stake and the next few deys will tell the story. The outlook is worse when coma continues or becomes progressively deeper.

As a rule, paralysis attains its maximum intensity at the start but if it should spread within the next 24 to 48 hours, a new hemorrhage or extension of the original lesion is suspected. No physican can predict, during the first few days or weeks, whether the effects of the paralysis will be temporary or permanent. In some instances, muscular strength returns within a few hours but in the majority, the outcome is not so dramatic, improvement taking place slowly over a period of several months. Many are left with some telltale evidence such as stiffness or awkwardness of the involved arm or leg; in others, a slight speech impediment remains. A small percentage never improve but six months must elapse before giving up hope.

Skilful nursing and medical care are required. The victim should be kept quiet through the use of sedatives. Those who are conscious can take nourishment by mouth; otherwise it is administered hypodermically. Frequent changes in position help to overcome the chance of developing pneumonia or bedsores. Later, physical therapy is useful for rehabilitation.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Harry Truman At Heart Is A Sentimentalist; Dutch Copy Japanese Sneak Attack; Capable Senators From New Hampshire Feud

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—Beneath all the official crust Harry Truman is a deep-down sentimentalist. It was this sentimental side that impelled him to slip up to Speaker Sam Rayburn's office after the formal opening of Congress. The President wanted to relive a moment of history, close to his heart.

The story goes back to a fateful afternoon in 1945—April 12. Harry Truman, then Vice President, hustled over to Rayburn's back-office for a legislative huddle. A few others were called in — House majority leader John McCormack, Congressman Lyndon Johnson of Texas, now a Senator, Congressman Wright Patman, also of Texas, and House parliamentarian Lewis Deschler.

It ws a little after 5 o'clock before Vice President Truman showed up. A message was already waiting for him to call the White House. Ho took a seat, picked up the telephone. A hushed, solemn voice answered. It was Presidential secretary Steve Early. "Come to the White House quickly and quietly," he said.

Harry Truman hurried down Pennsylvania Avenue. At the White House he heard the tragic news. Dazed and humble, he first tried to call Alben Barkley, Senate majority leader. Barkley couldn't be reached, so Truman dialed another number. This time he got an answer, and the first man to talk to the new President was—Sam Rayburn.

History Re-enacted

Nearly four years later, after President Truman's re-election, he invited Rayburn to relax with him at Key West.

"Do you still have that private room up on The Hill?" was the first thing Truman asked.

"Yes," nodded the egg-bald Texan.

"Well," mused the President, "I'll drop in about 5 o'clock on the day of your inauguration."

So the day Rayburn was sworn in again as Speaker, he quietly gathered the same group into his familiar back-office. He also brought in a few special friends—Vice President Alben Barkley, Chief Justice Fred Vinson, Attorney General Tom Clark, Secretary of the Air Force Stuart Symington and Secretary of the Senate Les Biffle.

A few minutes before 5 o'clock, the President was whisked up to the door by his Secret Service guard. Bowed and solemn, he picked out the chair he had sat in April 12, 1945. Settling into the same chair, he recalled the incident when he first became President.

Dutch Sneak Attack

One think that burnt up the American people at the time the Japs attacked Pearl Harbor was the way Ambassador Kurusu was kept in Washington pretending to negotiate right up to Dec. 7.

Though it's supposed to be a diplomatic secret, the unpleasant truth is that the Dutch pulled somewhat the same strategy before they attacked the Indonesian Republic.

On Dec. 14, four days before the Dutch sneak attack, Dutch Ambassador van Kleffens handed the State Department a pious-sounding note indicating that it just loved the Indonesian Republic and wanted to make the magnanimous gesture of allowing American textiles to the shipped to the Republic, despite the fact that Dutch ships hitherto had enforced a blockade.

Last October, the State Department had approached the Dutch with a proposal that American textiles be shipped through the Dutch blockade to the Republic. After a long delay the Dutch replied, Dec. 14, OK'd shipment of the textiles and talked about the humanitarian attitude of the Dutch Government.

Actually, at that very time the Dutch already knew they were going to make a most unhumanitarian attack and had piled up American materials to be ready for it.

Text Of Note

This column has been able to obtain a copy of the hitherto confidential note—and it didn't come from either Hiss or Chambers. The note stated:

"The Netherlands Ambassador presents his compliments to the Honorable Acting Secretary of State and has the honor to refer to the conference on October 7, 1948, at which were present Messrs. Nolting, Lacey of the Department of State, Messrs. Zimmerman and Soemitro, with regard to the shipment of textiles to the Republic of Indonesia as well as the memorandum of October 20 submitted by Mr. Zimmerman to the Department of State.

"The Netherlands Ambassador has now been instructed to inform the Acting Secretary of State that the Government of Indonesia is prepared to cooperate with a view of implementing the transaction in question. The Government of Indonesia is willing—within the limit of the regulation now in force and with the right of taking all supervisory measures deemed necessary —to cooperate in order to have these measures carried out smoothly and efficiently. In this connection inspection, before loading aboard steamer, in the U.S.A. of the merchandise to be shipped to the Indonesian Republic would be useful, although such action would not preclude further inspection on arrival in Indonesia."

The Dutch Ambassador then continued with a lengthy and pious explanation of how "for humanitarian reasons" the Dutch themselves "offered prompt assistance" in the way of textiles "to relieve distress" in the Indonesian Republic.

Four days later, however, they relieved stress with a fusillade of artillery and an advance of Dutch infantry, built up chiefly through Marshall Plan aid from the United States.

No wonder the State Department, burnt up, wrote one of the most blistering notes to the Dutch since Cordell Hull blasted Ambassador Kurusu.

New Hempshire Senators Feud

A bitter rift has come between New Hampshire's two Republican Senators—Styles Bridges and Charles Tobey, both good men.

Their personal feelings almost came to a head on the Senate floor the other day when Bridges was lining up to be sworn in for another six-year term. It is customary for the Senator who is taking the oath to be accompanied by his colleague from the same state.

When Bridges' name was called out, he tapped Tobey on the shoulder and whispered for him to come. But Tobey didn't budge. Bridges waited a moment, then thumping Tobey's desk, he whispered again: "Are you coming, Charlie?"

Tobey hesitated a moment, then jumped up and finished the ceremony at Bridges' side.

Truman Agenda A Resumption Of New Deal And Its Expansion

By MARK SULLIVAN

About President Truman's "state of the union" address to Congress, one broad generalization can be made. At no time in our history, unless possibly in some early Presidency when we were intent upon a new system or government we had then recently adopted—at no time since has any "state of the union" message to Congress by any President devoted itself so primarily to a new concept of society. Most of our Presidents would have been shocked by Mr. Truman's phrase, "creating a society."

As soon as the details of the concept in Mr. Truman's message are all grasped, and the pattern that several of his proposals make is recognized, discussion by the public and debate in Congress will be controvertial and prolonged, in proportion as the concept is fundamental and far-reaching. The word "revolutionary" is frequently misused and in general over-used. This is one place where it belongs.

One aspect of the President's message is not disputed, on the contrary is agreed upon by partisans and opponents alike. This is the relation of the Truman message to the Roosevelt New Deal. About this, Partisans of the Truman message and of the New Deal exult with pride. To opponents it is reason for denunciation. But both agree that Mr. Truman goes farther than Roosevelt, that the Truman message is a resumption of the New Deal and expansion of it. A way of expressing it, used by both sides, is, "the Truman message begins where the New Deal left off." The relation between the Truman message and the New Deal brings up the next stage and the conclusive one, what Congress will do about the Truman message. Bearing on that there is a precedent. And between that precedent and the present situation is a parallel, which may throw light on what may have moved Mr. Truman to send the particular kind of message he did, and on what Congress will do about it.

In time, the place where the New Deal left off was mid-1937. In February that year Roosevelt sent to Congress a measure soon recognized as extraordinary. A climax going beyond any New Deal message before. This was the bill to add six justices to the Supreme Court and otherwise change the judicial system. The measure, after six months of tense debate, was rejected by Congress.

With that rejection Congress reversed its whole attitude toward Roosevelt. Up to then it had been willingly a "rubber stamp" Congress, passing measures sent to it by Roosevelt with little debate, on occasion none. After the "court packing" bill, as it came to be called, Congress became wary, conscious of its legislative responsibility. Roosevelt recognized the change. From mid-1937 on he was cautious about sending measures to Congress and no New Deal legislation of any consequence was enacted.

Between that 1937 message of Roosevelt and the present message of Mr. Truman's there is a partial parallel, inherent in the respective circumstances of the two occasions. Roosevelt had just completed his first term. Mr. Truman has just completed his. Roosevelt, three months before, in the Presidential election of 1936, had won a sensational victory, justifying elation and self-confidence about his standing with the country and Congress. Mr. Truman two months ago won a substantial victory, and was naturally and plainly elated.

But here the parallel changes. The sensational quality of Roosevelt's 1936 victory arose from the enormous and unprecedented immensity of it — he had carried all but two states. What made Mr. Truman's victory last fall sensational was the narrowness of it, the escape by a squeak from generally expected defeat.

The Congress Roosevelt had when he sent his Supreme Court message was overwhelmingly Democratic, unprecedentedly so — in the Senate 75 Democrats out of 96; in the House, 333 out of 431. In the Congress Mr. Truman relies on, the Democratic majority is only ordinary, in the Senate comparatively narrow — 54 Senators out of 96; in the House, 262 out of 431.

Mr. Truman has one advantage over Roosevelt in 1937. The message Roosevelt sent asked for a single measure, its extraordinary quality easily recognizable. Mr. Truman's message is diffuse and complex, calling for a score of measures, only a part of them recognizable as extreme. Much depends on whether Congress and the public see the message as a whole, see the pattern that part of it makes.

It is certainly possible that Congress may react with consciousness of its legislative prerogatives, and that many Democrats may do what leading ones did about the Roosevelt Supreme Court measure, depart from Presidential party leadership on what they regard as a fundamental issue

Truman Takes Political Risk In Promising All A "Fair Deal"

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—President Truman took a bit of political risk when he promised in his State of the Union message a "Fair Deal" for everybody.

This is probably the most impossible slogan to fulfill that could have been suggested in these troublous times, for even with the best of intentions governmental action rests unfairly on many groups and many individuals.

Presumably the people aggrieved will remind the Administration of that promise at every turn. The Republican Party will not fail to quote it in terms of congressional action in the elections two years from now or in the presidential campaign four years hence.

Already it is natural that questions should be asked seeking a definition of just what is meant by the "Fair Deal" offered by Mr. Truman.

Will It Be a "Fair Deal"

Will it be a "Fair Deal," for example, to deprive employers of the rights equal to those of labor unions which they had under the Taft-Hartley Act and are now about to lose?

Will it be a "Fair Deal" to allow workers to be coerced into unions when they don't want to join—a form of intimidation against which they were protected by the Taft-Hartley Act but not under the one-sided Wagner Act about to be restored?

Will it be a "Fair Deal" to spend more and more money for additional governmental activities when the American people are asking for economy and a reduction of expenses?

Will it be a "Fair Deal" to the persons—retired workers and widows—living on pensions and annuities to devalue the purchasing power of their dollar still further through an unsound fiscal policy of the government?

Will it be a "Fair Deal" to make the persons who have the responsibility of American business enterprises take a wage cut while other workers are given a substantial increase in wages and relief from tax payments?

Will it be a "Fair Deal" to put the government itself into competition with private enterprise, as recommended in certain instances in the President's message, and thus begin to reduce the value of existing investments in those same industries?

If, by chance, the government steps in to support the price of farm products at a high level so as to keep the farm vote happy, will the housewives who have to pay the bill think it a "Fair Deal" for the government, thus, in effect, to keep high the cost of living?

Politics is a game in which catering to special groups has always been customary, and this in itself negates a "Fair Deal" for everybody. Some day perhaps leadership will arise which sincerely seeks to hold level the scales of justice and some day such leadership may even come through a rejuvenated or reformed political party. But today the conflict of interest between the "haves" and "have nots" is growing more and more noticeable as the trend toward confiscation of the savings of thrifty people becomes more and more pronounced.

Confiscating Private Property

Taxation is one of the oldest methods of confiscating private property. To spend more and more government funds to benefit large groups of voters, in what is really a paternalistic rather than a self-reliant economy, is to make it inevitable that higher taxes will reduce the incentive and impair the initiative of the managerial class. This is the first class that has to be weakened and then destroyed in order for the way to be cleared for state socialism.

It may be doubted whether Mr. Truman knows the implications of his own recommendations, but the promise of a "Fair Deal" for everybody would be reassuring if there were the slightest evidence of any real intent to apply it and give management and labor, managerial class and working class, a chance to keep the dollars saved.

But today, with billions of dollars invested in savings and with an artificially supported economy, the likelihood of further depreciation of the dollar in terms of gold looms strong on the horizon.

The biggest single fact about the dollar and its future in the world is that a $252,000,000,000 debt hangs over the nation and neither political party, and certainly no leader of the government, has offered any concrete plan to retire the debt by any long-range or any other kind of plan. It seems to be taken for granted that there will never be a run on the dollar even though governmental expenses go higher each year and tax rates continue to rise. A "Fair Deal" for the dollars earned by American labor a decade or more ago and put into savings accounts and insurance policies for their families is about the number one obligation of any "Fair Deal" today.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

URNOV, writing on "Howard Fast and America," gives Howard Fast the buildup as one of America's foremost literary lights and social philosophers. If you have never heard of Howard Fast, he is a Communist who has had a brush with the law and is therefore a martyr. He has written biography and fiction with a Marxist slant and is now a columnist for the Daily Worker.

Now, I do not wish to devote this space to Fast, but to Urnov, who, writing in a Soviet publication, has this to say about our country:

"While the Soviet Army in combat with the Nazi hordes decided the outcome of the second World War, the American monopolists were hatching new political and military adventures. After the defeat of German fascism, Wall Street openly assumed the criminal role of a new pretender to world domination, and the United States took its place at the head of the anti-democratic and imperialist camp.

"In order to substantiate its aggressive aspirations, American reaction let loose a torrent of mendacious, arrogant propaganda trumpeting the 'achievements' of American bourgeois democracy in the past and the present . . ."

Apparently, the United States was not in the last war at all. That was just propaganda! The Battle of the Bulge never took place. We never fought in the Pacific. We never threw the bomb at Hiroshima or Nagasaki. We never spent more than $300,000,000,000; we never provided lend-lease, $11,000,000,000 of it to the Russians. No! We came into it only after the Soviet Army beat the Nazi horde!

The Russians never begged us for a second front nor influenced us to reject Winston Churchill's now demonstrably sound plan of going into Nazi Germany through the Balkans from the perils of the Iron Curtain!

That apparently is what the Russians have been told and believe. They have not been told that we contributed 70 percent of all the expenditures of UNRRA or that we are contributing about $5,000,000,000 a year to reconstruct Europe and Asia.

Nor have they been told that the United States has come out of this costly and disastrous war without acquiring an inch of territory or domain over any people.

On the other hand, Soviet Russia has seized more than a dozen countries and has dominated a vast multitude of peoples, many of whom are totally enslaved not only to Russian physically, but mentally and spiritually. Nor have they been told that their country maintains in every nation a spying, subversive, poisonous Fifth Column which is a direct interference in the internal life of a people. The Russians apparently have been told none of that.

These Russians somehow have been made to believe that the United States is nearing the end of its history. Discussing Fast's novel, "The American," Urnov uses a curious phrase:

"The action of 'The American' takes place in the second half of the 19th century, chiefly in the latter decades, when capitalism was entering upon its highest and final stage—the stage of imperialism . . ."

Of course, Marxitis believe in the mysticism of "inevitability"; they are more dogmatic than the most bigoted fundamentalist in religion, accepting on faith that the Marxist prognosis must be correct, no matter what the facts may be. And one of heir assumptions is that "American bourgeois democracy" has "inevitably" degenerated and is now in its final stage.

The next stage is economic disaster, to be followed by a workers' revolution and finally by a Soviet republic affiliated with the mother country, Russia.

All this would not be worthy of comment were it only accepted as correct by Russians. The fact is that a large number of Americans—an increasingly large number of our young people—noting the success of the Russian effort in Europe and Asia, the astonishing lack of intelligence in the State Department, the current inadequacy of American political thought, are turning to the Marxist concept of "inevitability."

The fact that the Harold Ware Cells spread through the highest intellectual strata of official Washington—brought to the surface by the Chambers-Hiss case—cannot be ignored. It must be studied, analyzed, debated and a solution found as to how to reteach America to Americans.

Easing Of House Rules Has Its Good And Bad Side

There is natural rejoicing in the Administration camp over the action of the House in curbing the powers of its Rules Committee. Because the new Rules Committee will include some of the Southern Democrats who would vote with Republican members, President Truman has feared that many controversial Administration bills might be held up indefinitely.

In practice, the Rules Committee is the most powerful committee in Congress. It not only fixes the timetable for action in the House. It can kill legislation simply by pigeonholing it. It can also forbid amendments and can limit debate on measures sent to the House floor. Indeed, thanks to its latent powers it can demand that any measure it votes out be stripped of provisions which it does not approve.

Under the changes just voted by the House, the Rules Committee can hold up a bill for only 21 days. After that a sponsor of a bottled-up bill, if he wins majority support in the House, can get the bill out on the floor for debate and vote.

Some Democrats, with heady enthusiasm, are already predicting a return to the well-greased efficiency of the days of "Uncle Joe" Cannon. But the constant threat of a coalition of most Republicans and many Southern Democrats will probably prevent anything like that. True, the vote of 275 to 142 in favor of weakening the Rules Committee was most gratifying to the White House. But a number of Republicans, and even some conservative Democrats, voted for the change because they honestly believe the committee had abused its powers in the past.

Another point to remember is that this easing of the House rules can work two ways. The Rules Committee has been stripped of power to hold back measures which the Administration wants. But it has also lost the power to hold up measures, urged by a possible Republican-Southern Democratic coalition, that the Administration does not want. Like any other reform, this one has its bad as well as its good side for the reformers.

Six Months Of Socialized Medicine In Great Britain

If the new Congress takes a lesson from British experience with socialized medicine it will drop the Administration proposal for Federal sickness insurance like a hot coal.

In effect since July 5, 1948, the British plan is already under heavy fire from foes and one-time friends. In October its radical sponsor, Health Minister Aneurin Bevan, complained that the whole scheme might break down because of "exorbitant demands" put upon it by the public. Doctors' offices have been jammed with people seeking treatment, at government expense, for minor or imaginary ills, while doctors are unable to give proper care to the really sick. It seems never to have occurred to Mr. Bevan that a scheme which invites public abuse might actually receive it.

British doctors and dentists complain bitterly that under the state-pay system they are overworked and underpaid. To make an "adequate" living—defined in Britain as $8,000 a year—a physician must have around 4,000 patients. Such a load, according to the authoritative medical weekly, the Lancet, means a dangerously overworked doctor and "inadequate personal care" for his patients. To this Bevan replies, in characteristic vein, that the British public "must not be hypochondriacs"—and proposes to cut payments to the dentists.

Some 18,000 of Britain's 23,000 physicians have "voluntarily" signed up, realizing that most of their patients would not pay bills when the government offers to do so. But there is growing inside as well as outside opposition to the plan. A fellowship of Freedom in Medicine has been organized by Lord Horder, physician to the royal family. National health service is also opposed by the British Medical Association, and, in its present form, even by a Socialist medical group.

Britain's version of socialized medicine is more far-reaching than the plan now being urged upon Congress. But British experiences over the years shows how an opening wedge toward state medicine can be steadily widened by inside pressure.

Name On T-H Law Will Be Changed, For That's Politics

Among the best-conducted of all labor unions is the International Ladies' Garment Workers Union. It is responsible, it is reasonable, and its word is always good. Under David Dubinsky, it seems to have solved, or almost so, the problems of labor and management. What its general executive board recommends to the new Congress is therefore worthy of note:

It would require anti-Communist affidavits from labor leaders.

It would require anti-Communist affidavits from employers.

It would continue the present bans against secondary boycotts.

It would create boards to settle jurisdictional disputes.

It would continue the right of employers to petition for labor-board elections to determine bargaining agents.

It would call upon employers and unions to file comprehensive financial reports.

It would subject disputes in public utilities and other vital enterprises to the cooling-off and fact-finding procedure which is now the law for railway labor.

It would discontinue the ban on the closed shop.

Sounds familiar? Yes, quite so. In all the above respects except the last named, this is the Taft-Hartley Act, with a single addition—requiring all anti-Communist affidavits from employers—which the Republicans themselves would propose were they a majority now in Congress.

Thus the clearest-headed of all the unions recognizes what was disclosed by repeated polls last year, that the union rank-and-file liked nearly everything in the present labor act. Its board formally indorses the principle that management and labor must be subject to the same responsibilities and restraints. That's the Taft-Hartley Act in a nutshell. Of course the name will be changed, for that's politics. But what else?

HOW TO KEEP WELL

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Hardened Arteries and Apoplexy

Approximately 90 per cent of all cases of apoplexy are due either to cerebral hemorrhage or cerebral thrombosis. In the first disturbance, a vessel ruptures and, as the oozing blood accumulates, it presses upon vital tissues. In the second, a clot forms within an artery and shuts off the circulation to a portion of the brain. The result is the same, regardless of the origin, but the outcome is contingent upon the size of the blood channel involved and whether an important center is affected.

The mishap is encountered more frequently after the age of 50, but whether or not it occurs depends upon the condition of the arteries. In most instances, these structures have hardened through the aging process, which makes the inner wall rough and thus encourages clot formation (thrombus). The pathways also become less elastic and somewhat brittle, causing them to be more susceptible to rupture and hemorrhage.

High blood pressure and strokes often go hand in hand but the height of the reading is not as significant as the state of the blood vessels. This has been demonstrated on numerous occasions and it should be encouraging to individuals with hypertension to realize that strokes are almost as common when the pressure is normal as when it is high. In addition, many with excessive readings never experience this complication because the arteries can withstand the elevated pressure.

A cerebral hemorrhage or thrombosis is often preceded be headache, dizziness, drowsiness, and mental confusion. These are not specific manifestations, however, as they arise in other disorders but they should never be neglected by one who is a potential candidate. Others notice a transient loss of speech or weakness in an arm or leg. Should such symptoms appear, a physician should be called because now and then a catastrophe can be avoided by going to bed for a day or two and taking medicine to assure relaxation.

Should a clot of hemorrhage occur, the sufferer usually complains of severe headache and then lapses into coma. Sometimes this is preceded or followed by vomiting and convulsions. The temperature, puise, and respiration increase. Many develop paralysis immediately, with or without speech defects. This series of events begins suddenly and reaches its climax in a varying length of time—within a few minutes or hours, at most. At this stage the life of the patient is at stake and the next few deys will tell the story. The outlook is worse when coma continues or becomes progressively deeper.

As a rule, paralysis attains its maximum intensity at the start but if it should spread within the next 24 to 48 hours, a new hemorrhage or extension of the original lesion is suspected. No physican can predict, during the first few days or weeks, whether the effects of the paralysis will be temporary or permanent. In some instances, muscular strength returns within a few hours but in the majority, the outcome is not so dramatic, improvement taking place slowly over a period of several months. Many are left with some telltale evidence such as stiffness or awkwardness of the involved arm or leg; in others, a slight speech impediment remains. A small percentage never improve but six months must elapse before giving up hope.

Skilful nursing and medical care are required. The victim should be kept quiet through the use of sedatives. Those who are conscious can take nourishment by mouth; otherwise it is administered hypodermically. Frequent changes in position help to overcome the chance of developing pneumonia or bedsores. Later, physical therapy is useful for rehabilitation.

The story goes back to a fateful afternoon in 1945—April 12. Harry Truman, then Vice President, hustled over to Rayburn's back-office for a legislative huddle. A few others were called in — House majority leader John McCormack, Congressman Lyndon Johnson of Texas, now a Senator, Congressman Wright Patman, also of Texas, and House parliamentarian Lewis Deschler.

It ws a little after 5 o'clock before Vice President Truman showed up. A message was already waiting for him to call the White House. Ho took a seat, picked up the telephone. A hushed, solemn voice answered. It was Presidential secretary Steve Early. "Come to the White House quickly and quietly," he said.

Harry Truman hurried down Pennsylvania Avenue. At the White House he heard the tragic news. Dazed and humble, he first tried to call Alben Barkley, Senate majority leader. Barkley couldn't be reached, so Truman dialed another number. This time he got an answer, and the first man to talk to the new President was—Sam Rayburn.

History Re-enacted

Nearly four years later, after President Truman's re-election, he invited Rayburn to relax with him at Key West.

"Do you still have that private room up on The Hill?" was the first thing Truman asked.

"Yes," nodded the egg-bald Texan.

"Well," mused the President, "I'll drop in about 5 o'clock on the day of your inauguration."

So the day Rayburn was sworn in again as Speaker, he quietly gathered the same group into his familiar back-office. He also brought in a few special friends—Vice President Alben Barkley, Chief Justice Fred Vinson, Attorney General Tom Clark, Secretary of the Air Force Stuart Symington and Secretary of the Senate Les Biffle.

A few minutes before 5 o'clock, the President was whisked up to the door by his Secret Service guard. Bowed and solemn, he picked out the chair he had sat in April 12, 1945. Settling into the same chair, he recalled the incident when he first became President.

Dutch Sneak Attack

One think that burnt up the American people at the time the Japs attacked Pearl Harbor was the way Ambassador Kurusu was kept in Washington pretending to negotiate right up to Dec. 7.

Though it's supposed to be a diplomatic secret, the unpleasant truth is that the Dutch pulled somewhat the same strategy before they attacked the Indonesian Republic.

On Dec. 14, four days before the Dutch sneak attack, Dutch Ambassador van Kleffens handed the State Department a pious-sounding note indicating that it just loved the Indonesian Republic and wanted to make the magnanimous gesture of allowing American textiles to the shipped to the Republic, despite the fact that Dutch ships hitherto had enforced a blockade.

Last October, the State Department had approached the Dutch with a proposal that American textiles be shipped through the Dutch blockade to the Republic. After a long delay the Dutch replied, Dec. 14, OK'd shipment of the textiles and talked about the humanitarian attitude of the Dutch Government.

Actually, at that very time the Dutch already knew they were going to make a most unhumanitarian attack and had piled up American materials to be ready for it.

Text Of Note

This column has been able to obtain a copy of the hitherto confidential note—and it didn't come from either Hiss or Chambers. The note stated:

"The Netherlands Ambassador presents his compliments to the Honorable Acting Secretary of State and has the honor to refer to the conference on October 7, 1948, at which were present Messrs. Nolting, Lacey of the Department of State, Messrs. Zimmerman and Soemitro, with regard to the shipment of textiles to the Republic of Indonesia as well as the memorandum of October 20 submitted by Mr. Zimmerman to the Department of State.

"The Netherlands Ambassador has now been instructed to inform the Acting Secretary of State that the Government of Indonesia is prepared to cooperate with a view of implementing the transaction in question. The Government of Indonesia is willing—within the limit of the regulation now in force and with the right of taking all supervisory measures deemed necessary—to cooperate in order to have these measures carried out smoothly and efficiently. In this connection inspection, before loading aboard steamer, in the U.S.A. of the merchandise to be shipped to the Indonesian Republic would be useful, although such action would not preclude further inspection on arrival in Indonesia."

The Dutch Ambassador then continued with a lengthy and pious explanation of how "for humanitarian reasons" the Dutch themselves "offered prompt assistance" in the way of textiles "to relieve distress" in the Indonesian Republic.

Four days later, however, they relieved stress with a fusillade of artillery and an advance of Dutch infantry, built up chiefly through Marshall Plan aid from the United States.

No wonder the State Department, burnt up, wrote one of the most blistering notes to the Dutch since Cordell Hull blasted Ambassador Kurusu.

New Hempshire Senators Feud

A bitter rift has come between New Hampshire's two Republican Senators—Styles Bridges and Charles Tobey, both good men.

Their personal feelings almost came to a head on the Senate floor the other day when Bridges was lining up to be sworn in for another six-year term. It is customary for the Senator who is taking the oath to be accompanied by his colleague from the same state.

When Bridges' name was called out, he tapped Tobey on the shoulder and whispered for him to come. But Tobey didn't budge. Bridges waited a moment, then thumping Tobey's desk, he whispered again: "Are you coming, Charlie?"

Tobey hesitated a moment, then jumped up and finished the ceremony at Bridges' side.

Truman Agenda A Resumption Of New Deal And Its Expansion

By MARK SULLIVAN

About President Truman's "state of the union" address to Congress, one broad generalization can be made. At no time in our history, unless possibly in some early Presidency when we were intent upon a new system or government we had then recently adopted—at no time since has any "state of the union" message to Congress by any President devoted itself so primarily to a new concept of society. Most of our Presidents would have been shocked by Mr. Truman's phrase, "creating a society."

As soon as the details of the concept in Mr. Truman's message are all grasped, and the pattern that several of his proposals make is recognized, discussion by the public and debate in Congress will be controvertial and prolonged, in proportion as the concept is fundamental and far-reaching. The word "revolutionary" is frequently misused and in general over-used. This is one place where it belongs.

One aspect of the President's message is not disputed, on the contrary is agreed upon by partisans and opponents alike. This is the relation of the Truman message to the Roosevelt New Deal. About this, Partisans of the Truman message and of the New Deal exult with pride. To opponents it is reason for denunciation. But both agree that Mr. Truman goes farther than Roosevelt, that the Truman message is a resumption of the New Deal and expansion of it. A way of expressing it, used by both sides, is, "the Truman message begins where the New Deal left off." The relation between the Truman message and the New Deal brings up the next stage and the conclusive one, what Congress will do about the Truman message. Bearing on that there is a precedent. And between that precedent and the present situation is a parallel, which may throw light on what may have moved Mr. Truman to send the particular kind of message he did, and on what Congress will do about it.

In time, the place where the New Deal left off was mid-1937. In February that year Roosevelt sent to Congress a measure soon recognized as extraordinary. A climax going beyond any New Deal message before. This was the bill to add six justices to the Supreme Court and otherwise change the judicial system. The measure, after six months of tense debate, was rejected by Congress.

With that rejection Congress reversed its whole attitude toward Roosevelt. Up to then it had been willingly a "rubber stamp" Congress, passing measures sent to it by Roosevelt with little debate, on occasion none. After the "court packing" bill, as it came to be called, Congress became wary, conscious of its legislative responsibility. Roosevelt recognized the change. From mid-1937 on he was cautious about sending measures to Congress and no New Deal legislation of any consequence was enacted.

Between that 1937 message of Roosevelt and the present message of Mr. Truman's there is a partial parallel, inherent in the respective circumstances of the two occasions. Roosevelt had just completed his first term. Mr. Truman has just completed his. Roosevelt, three months before, in the Presidential election of 1936, had won a sensational victory, justifying elation and self-confidence about his standing with the country and Congress. Mr. Truman two months ago won a substantial victory, and was naturally and plainly elated.

But here the parallel changes. The sensational quality of Roosevelt's 1936 victory arose from the enormous and unprecedented immensity of it — he had carried all but two states. What made Mr. Truman's victory last fall sensational was the narrowness of it, the escape by a squeak from generally expected defeat.

The Congress Roosevelt had when he sent his Supreme Court message was overwhelmingly Democratic, unprecedentedly so — in the Senate 75 Democrats out of 96; in the House, 333 out of 431. In the Congress Mr. Truman relies on, the Democratic majority is only ordinary, in the Senate comparatively narrow — 54 Senators out of 96; in the House, 262 out of 431.

Mr. Truman has one advantage over Roosevelt in 1937. The message Roosevelt sent asked for a single measure, its extraordinary quality easily recognizable. Mr. Truman's message is diffuse and complex, calling for a score of measures, only a part of them recognizable as extreme. Much depends on whether Congress and the public see the message as a whole, see the pattern that part of it makes.

It is certainly possible that Congress may react with consciousness of its legislative prerogatives, and that many Democrats may do what leading ones did about the Roosevelt Supreme Court measure, depart from Presidential party leadership on what they regard as a fundamental issue.

Truman Takes Political Risk In Promising All A "Fair Deal"

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—President Truman took a bit of political risk when he promised in his State of the Union message a "Fair Deal" for everybody.

This is probably the most impossible slogan to fulfill that could have been suggested in these troublous times, for even with the best of intentions governmental action rests unfairly on many groups and many individuals.

Presumably the people aggrieved will remind the Administration of that promise at every turn. The Republican Party will not fail to quote it in terms of congressional action in the elections two years from now or in the presidential campaign four years hence.

Already it is natural that questions should be asked seeking a definition of just what is meant by the "Fair Deal" offered by Mr. Truman.

Will It Be a "Fair Deal"

Will it be a "Fair Deal," for example, to deprive employers of the rights equal to those of labor unions which they had under the Taft-Hartley Act and are now about to lose?

Will it be a "Fair Deal" to allow workers to be coerced into unions when they don't want to join—a form of intimidation against which they were protected by the Taft-Hartley Act but not under the one-sided Wagner Act about to be restored?

Will it be a "Fair Deal" to spend more and more money for additional governmental activities when the American people are asking for economy and a reduction of expenses?

Will it be a "Fair Deal" to the persons—retired workers and widows—living on pensions and annuities to devalue the purchasing power of their dollar still further through an unsound fiscal policy of the government?

Will it be a "Fair Deal" to make the persons who have the responsibility of American business enterprises take a wage cut while other workers are given a substantial increase in wages and relief from tax payments?

Will it be a "Fair Deal" to put the government itself into competition with private enterprise, as recommended in certain instances in the President's message, and thus begin to reduce the value of existing investments in those same industries?

If, by chance, the government steps in to support the price of farm products at a high level so as to keep the farm vote happy, will the housewives who have to pay the bill think it a "Fair Deal" for the government, thus, in effect, to keep high the cost of living?

Politics is a game in which catering to special groups has always been customary, and this in itself negates a "Fair Deal" for everybody. Some day perhaps leadership will arise which sincerely seeks to hold level the scales of justice and some day such leadership may even come through a rejuvenated or reformed political party. But today the conflict of interest between the "haves" and "have nots" is growing more and more noticeable as the trend toward confiscation of the savings of thrifty people becomes more and more pronounced.

Confiscating Private Property

Taxation is one of the oldest methods of confiscating private property. To spend more and more government funds to benefit large groups of voters, in what is really a paternalistic rather than a self-reliant economy, is to make it inevitable that higher taxes will reduce the incentive and impair the initiative of the managerial class. This is the first class that has to be weakened and then destroyed in order for the way to be cleared for state socialism.

It may be doubted whether Mr. Truman knows the implications of his own recommendations, but the promise of a "Fair Deal" for everybody would be reassuring if there were the slightest evidence of any real intent to apply it and give management and labor, managerial class and working class, a chance to keep the dollars saved.

But today, with billions of dollars invested in savings and with an artificially supported economy, the likelihood of further depreciation of the dollar in terms of gold looms strong on the horizon.

The biggest single fact about the dollar and its future in the world is that a $252,000,000,000 debt hangs over the nation and neither political party, and certainly no leader of the government, has offered any concrete plan to retire the debt by any long-range or any other kind of plan. It seems to be taken for granted that there will never be a run on the dollar even though governmental expenses go higher each year and tax rates continue to rise. A "Fair Deal" for the dollars earned by American labor a decade or more ago and put into savings accounts and insurance policies for their families is about the number one obligation of any "Fair Deal" today.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

MURNOV, writing on "Howard Fast and America," gives Howard Fast the buildup as one of America's foremost literary lights and social philosophers. If you have never heard of Howard Fast, he is a Communist who has had a brush with the law and is therefore a martyr. He has written biography and fiction with a Marxist slant and is now a columnist for the Daily Worker.

Now, I do not wish to devote this space to Fast, but to Urnov, who, writing in a Soviet publication, has this to say about our country:

"While the Soviet Army in combat with the Nazi hordes decided the outcome of the second World War, the American monopolists were hatching new political and military adventures. After the defeat of German fascism, Wall Street openly assumed the criminal role of a new pretender to world domination, and the United States took its place at the head of the anti-democratic and imperialist camp.

"In order to substantiate its aggressive aspirations, American reaction let loose a torrent of mendacious, arrogant propaganda trumpeting the 'achievements' of American bourgeois democracy in the past and the present . . ."

Apparently, the United States was not in the last war at all. That was just propaganda! The Battle of the Bulge never took place. We never fought in the Pacific. We never threw the bomb at Hiroshima or Nagasaki. We never spent more than $300,000,000,000; we never provided lend-lease, $11,000,000,000 of it to the Russians. No! We came into it only after the Soviet Army beat the Nazi horde!

The Russians never begged us for a second front nor influenced us to reject Winston Churchill's now demonstrably sound plan of going into Nazi Germany through the Balkans from the perils of the Iron Curtain!

That apparently is what the Russians have been told and believe. They have not been told that we contributed 70 percent of all the expenditures of UNRRA or that we are contributing about $5,000,000,000 a year to reconstruct Europe and Asia.

Nor have they been told that the United States has come out of this costly and disastrous war without acquiring an inch of territory or domain over any people.

On the other hand, Soviet Russia has seized more than a dozen countries and has dominated a vast multitude of peoples, many of whom are totally enslaved not only to Russian physically, but mentally and spiritually. Nor have they been told that their country maintains in every nation a spying, subversive, poisonous Fifth Column which is a direct interference in the internal life of a people. The Russians apparently have been told none of that.

These Russians somehow have been made to believe that the United States is nearing the end of its history. Discussing Fast's novel, "The American," Urnov uses a curious phrase:

"The action of 'The American' takes place in the second half of the 19th century, chiefly in the latter decades, when capitalism was entering upon its highest and final stage—the stage of imperialism . . ."

Of course, Marxitis believe in the mysticism of "inevitability"; they are more dogmatic than the most bigoted fundamentalist in religion, accepting on faith that the Marxist prognosis must be correct, no matter what the facts may be. And one of heir assumptions is that "American bourgeois democracy" has "inevitably" degenerated and is now in its final stage.

The next stage is economic disaster, to be followed by a workers' revolution and finally by a Soviet republic affiliated with the mother country, Russia.

All this would not be worthy of comment were it only accepted as correct by Russians. The fact is that a large number of Americans—an increasingly large number of our young people—noting the success of the Russian effort in Europe and Asia, the astonishing lack of intelligence in the State Department, the current inadequacy of American political thought, are turning to the Marxist concept of "inevitability."

The fact that the Harold Ware Cells spread through the highest intellectual strata of official Washington—brought to the surface by the Chambers-Hiss case—cannot be ignored. It must be studied, analyzed, debated and a solution found as to how to reteach America to Americans.

has more difficulty in penetrating. During cold weather the surface of this unprotected soil freezes solid.

"During the past week we were faced with just such a problem. Several days of cold weather froze the surface of the ground. Subsequent rainfall occurred before the ground thawed out, so the water could not drain down into the soil. Instead the water had to run off along the surface just as on solid rock, washing any loose particles of dirt along with it."

Land owners, Heczko said, can reduce floods by proper handling of their land. Steep slopes, he said, should be kept in woodland and less steep land in sod. He advises contour strip-cropping on any cultivated slope land.

Less runoff occurs from cleared grazed pasture than from grazed woodland, he said ,adding that surface runoff is as much as 60 times greater in grazed woodland than in ungrazed forest.

If more pasture is needed, he said, a farmer may clear the best pasture possible of the woodland of all trees and improve the pasture. Advice or asistance in pasture improvement, Heczko said, may be obtained from the county agent's office or from the Soil Conservation Service.

No Vote Taken

Dr. Easton did not attend the meeting.

Waller said that when the Romney plant was investigated Thursday by himself and Fred Purgitt, operator of the Keyser water plant, who is licensed as a first class water operator by the state, it was found satisfactory.

However, he added, "under adverse conditions, Thursday (the river was near flood stage and very muddy) a slightly cloudy or smoky water was being pumped into the plant.

He said turbidity was not present in "quantity sufficient to render chlorination ineffective. A satisfactory chlorine residual was found in the water taken from the lines, a good indicator of safe water. While slight turbidity does not render water when not adequately chlorinated unfit for consumption, this condition is not desirable."

Upon questioning last night, Dr. Easton still expressed doubts as to [illegible] of the supply.

CUTTING WEDDING CAKE—Shown above are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stump Watkins, who were married last night at the home of Rev. Joseph W. Young, Bedford Street. Rev. Arbitrator Rules

change the method of such an operation or, generally, to issue instructions on the manner operations are to be performed.

Prior to July, 1948, dressing of a first system press in the preparation department by two men took about three to three and one-half hours with employes being paid on an hourly basis with no time limit imposed.

The company contended employes "stretched out" the operation and that time consumed had been increasing for several years. Faced with the necessity of increasing the supply of filtered "dope" and to reduce the time for dressing the presses, the firm adopted a simpler method which Feinberg said required a shorter period of time.

Last June the company ran tests of the operation and company officials decided among themselves that a time limit of two hours for the operation was fair and reasonable.

The new method was instituted on a limited basis on "black dope" presses July 6 and supervisors clocked time used by employes. On July 13 the company, by written notice to supervisors, extended the operation to all such presses, with employes being told to perform the work within two hours.

If an employe exceeded the time limit he was first warned orally, and then in writing, that a failure to meet the limitation would result in suspension.

On July 20, Weslow, Duckworth, Bennett and Grimes were given two-day suspensions. After his return, Weslow was given a second suspension and on July 28 Reinhart was similarly disciplined for exceeding the time limits.

The union did not participate in the tests made by the company in June and no formal notice was given, as such, to the union on the time limitation, Feinberg said.

The union contended the suspensions were invalid since the company did not discuss or negotiate the time limit prior to the institution of the rule, and further argued the employes were not granted sufficient opportunity to become adept in the new method.

The company argued the rule was legally instituted and that due and reasonable consultation was held with union representatives before its promulgation.

The firm also asserted that since the rule involved working conditions, the union, if dissatisfied, should have protested through the grievance machinery when the rule became effective. It further argued that prior to the demand for arbitration, the union did not question the legality of the rule.

Feinberg said he was satisfied from evidence that employes did violate the rule and that there was no basis for the claim they did not have time to become familiar with the new method, but said he was not impressed by the company claim that the union may not in this proceedings raise the question of the propriety of the rule since it did not raise the issue in the preliminary steps of the grievance machinery after filing the grievance.

Feinberg pointed out that labor arbitration is not limited to technical rules but has the function to do equity within the contractural obligations and the rights of the parties.

He ruled that the time limitation constitutes a working condition requiring prior collective bargaining. He said he was also satisfied no real negotiation took place and that the union was given no fair opportunity to discuss the matter with the company.

In conclusion, he said procedure followed by the firm was incorrect and that the suspension based on the enforcement of the rule should be set aside and employes reimbursed for time lost.

Cresaptown 4-H To Mark Anniversary

Assistant Forester

has more difficulty in penetrating. During cold weather the surface of this unprotected soil freezes solid.

"During the past week we were faced with just such a problem. Several days of cold weather froze the surface of the ground. Subsequent rainfall occurred before the ground thawed out, so the water could not drain down into the soil. Instead the water had to run off along the surface just as on solid rock, washing any loose particles of dirt along with it."

Land owners, Heczko said, can reduce floods by proper handling of their land. Steep slopes, he said, should be kept in woodland and less steep land in sod. He advises contour strip-cropping on any cultivated slope land.

Less runoff occurs from cleared grazed pasture than from grazed woodland, he said adding that surface runoff is as much as 60 times greater in grazed woodland than in ungrazed forest.

If more pasture is needed, he said, a farmer may clear the best pasture possible of the woodland of all trees and improve the pasture. Advice or asistance in pasture improvement, Heczko said, may be obtained from the county agent's office or from the Soil Conservation Service.

No Vote Taken

Dr. Easton did not attend the meeting.

Waller said that when the Romney plant was investigated Thursday by himself and Fred Purgitt, operator of the Keyser water plant, who is licensed as a first class water operator by the state, it was found satisfactory.

However, he added, "under adverse conditions, Thursday (the river was near flood stage and very muddy) a slightly cloudy or smoky water was being pumped into the plant.

He said turbidity was not present in "quantity sufficient to render chlorination ineffective. A satisfactory chlorine residual was found in the water taken from the lines, a good indicator of safe water. While slight turbidity does not render water when not adequately chlorinated unfit for consumption, this condition is not desirable."

Upon questioning last night, Dr. Easton still expressed doubts as to [illegible] of the supply.

Arbitrator Rules

change the method of such an operation or, generally, to issue instructions on the manner operations are to be performed.

Prior to July, 1948, dressing of a first system press in the preparation department by two men took about three to three and one-half hours with employes being paid on an hourly basis with no time limit imposed.

The company contended employes "stretched out" the operation and that time consumed had been increasing for several years. Faced with the necessity of increasing the supply of filtered "dope" and to reduce the time for dressing the presses, the firm adopted a simpler method which Feinberg said required a shorter period of time.

Last June the company ran tests of the operation and company officials decided among themselves that a time limit of two hours for the operation was fair and reasonable.

The new method was instituted on a limited basis on "black dope" presses July 6 and supervisors clocked time used by employes. On July 13 the company, by written notice to supervisors, extended the operation to all such presses, with employes being told to perform the work within two hours.

If an employe exceeded the time limit he was first warned orally, and then in writing, that a failure to meet the limitation would result in suspension.

On July 20, Weslow, Duckworth, Bennett and Grimes were given two-day suspensions. After his return, Weslow was given a second suspension and on July 28 Reinhart was similarly disciplined for exceeding the time limits.

The union did not participate in the tests made by the company in June and no formal notice was given, as such, to the union on the time limitation, Feinberg said.

The union contended the suspensions were invalid since the company did not discuss or negotiate the time limit prior to the institution of the rule, and further argued the employes were not granted sufficient opportunity to become adept in the new method.

The company argued the rule was legally instituted and that due and reasonable consultation was held with union representatives before its promulgation.

The firm also asserted that since the rule involved working conditions, the union, if dissatisfied, should have protested through the grievance machinery when the rule became effective. It further argued that prior to the demand for arbitration, the union did not question the legality of the rule.

Feinberg said he was satisfied from evidence that employes did violate the rule and that there was no basis for the claim they did not have time to become familiar with the new method, but said he was not impressed by the company claim that the union may not in this proceedings raise the question of the propriety of the rule since it did not raise the issue in the preliminary steps of the grievance machinery after filing the grievance.

Feinberg pointed out that labor arbitration is not limited to technical rules but has the function to do equity within the contractural obligations and the rights of the parties.

He ruled that the time limitation constitutes a working condition requiring prior collective bargaining. He said he was also satisfied no real negotiation took place and that the union was given no fair opportunity to discuss the matter with the company.

In conclusion, he said procedure followed by the firm was incorrect and that the suspension based on the enforcement of the rule should be set aside and employes reimbursed for time lost.

Go To Church This Sunday, Your Church, Any Church, But Go!

The Snowman that lived

Johnny built a snow man! From white, cold snow he made it. It was hard work, and Johnny was justly proud.

Johnny built a snowman—in a day! He packed the snow hard, put in coals for the eyes and nose, and Daddy's hat was placed on top.

But far more of Daddy than just his hat went into this snowman. Just as Johnny worked hard to build the snowman, his father is hard at work too . . . building Johnny. Daddy's greatest dream is to see Johnny moulded into a man of strength, vision, and character.

Luckily for Johnny, Daddy is a wise father. He realizes that the most important single influence upon his son's life is the teaching of Christ. Daddy will see to it that his son receives that teaching by sending him to Church services regularly. In making certain that Johnny knows the beauty of God's words, father will see his greatest dream come true.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Wheeling's pace-setting Blues will come here Sunday night to battle Coach Louis H. "Red" Klotz's Cumberland Dukes in the third game of their six-game series in the All-American Professional Basketball League.

SS. Peter and Paul gym will be the scene of the action and the starting time is 9 o'clock.

Wheeling, coached by Jule Rivlin, made its first appearance in Cumberland on December 12 and went down before the Dukes, 74-65. In the second game of the series on the following night in Wheeling the Blues registered a 74-66 triumph over the Klotzmen.

Blues At Altoona Tonight

The West Virginians are leading the league at the present time with a 9-3 record, two full games in front of the Dukes and Altoona's Flyers who were knotted for the runner-up berth with 6-4 records. Wheeling's margin will be much narrower tonight if the Blues run into trouble at Altoona and the Flyers are usually "hot" on their home floor.

A victory for the Flyers tonight would reduce the Blues' edge to one full game over altoona which would mean that Cumberland must defeat Rivlin's outfit Sunday night to remain tied for second place.

A Wheeling sports writer predicts that the Blues will defeat both Altoona and Cumberland on their two-day road trip. This bit of news should be of special interest to the Flyers and Dukes.

Tomorrow's game will be the 14th of the current campaign for the Dukes. At home the team has won seven and lost two while on the road the record is one win and three defeats.

Bob Whip, business manager, announced yesterday that Ken Haggerty, one-time Holy Cross captain, will join the locals for tomorrow's game and John Ross, formerly of Baltimore U., and brother-in-law of Paul Oberhaus will be in the Dukes' lineup:

Geatz Starts At Center

Coach Klotz plans to start Bob Pence and Lou Bell at the forward positions, George Geatz at center, and Haggerty and Klotz at the guard posts. The local player-coach regards Geatz as one of the best defensive men on the team and he believes George is capable of cutting down the scoring power of Quinlan who collected 24 points in his last appearance here.

Paul Oberhaus, Gus Frizzell, Jim Clevenger, 'Babe" Johnson, Walter Orndorff and Bill Day are also expected to see action in the Sunday tilt.

Fred Paine, six-footer, who played with the Youngstown Cubs last season, and suffered an ankle injury in his first start with Wheeling two weeks ago may be able to play for the Blues in tomorrow's contest. Paine this year was the Baltimore Bullets of the BAA but later was traded to Providence of the same circuit and only recently released. He tips the beam at 220 and captained the Westminster College Titans in 1947. The Wheeling management is hopeful that he'll be available for duty tomorrow.

Other players on the Wheeling roster are Jimmy Quinlan, former Canisius star and high scorer of the team; Bobby Carroll, ex-West Virginia U. ace, Jimmie Ruch, Hank Ellis, Paul Herman, Gene Britt, Floatz Pelaez ,Hal Geisler, Kenneth Becker and Rivlin.

Good Drawing Card

The game is expected to attract a good-sized crowd because of the fact that the Dukes and Blues are two of the most evenly matched clubs in the six-team circuit.

The Big Five and the B. P. O. Elks will meet in the preliminary game at 7:30 o'clock.

League officials will handle the main event.

Moose Floormen Play In Hagerstown Sunday

Victorious in their last eight games and boasting a record of nine wins in 12 starts, Coach Jimmie Angellatta's Loyal Order of Moose basketball team will journey to Hagerstown tomorrow to play the Hagerstown Marketeers at 2 p. m. at the State Armory.

Twelve players will make the trip, leaving from the Moose Home at 11 a. m.

Dutch Harrison Posts Sub-Par 69 In First Round

Takes 5-Stroke Lead In Los Angeles Open

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 7 (AP) — Drawling E. J. (Dutch) Harrison paced the way through the first round of the annual $15,000 Los Angeles Open today as the nation's leading golfers launched the 1949 season.

Harrison, the veteran Arkansaw Traveler of golf's tournament trail, clipped two strokes off par with a well earned 69. Some 5,000 galleryites turned out for the opening round of the 23rd renewal of this mid-winter attraction.

Lagging behind in the well crowded 74 bracket, three strokes over par 71 for the 7,020-yard Riviera Course, was Ben Hogan, the favorite and winner of the past two Los Angeles opens.

Hogan's 37-37—74 was the worst opening round he has had in this tournament since he began dominating the event in 1947.

Jimmy Demaret and two dark horse amateurs from Los Angeles, Bobby Gardner and Nick Petropolo, finished tied at 70, and with Harrison completed the lone four out of 125 contestants able to better par today.

Eight challengers for Hogan's Los Angeles crown and the $2,600 first money equalled par, including Samuel Jackson Snead, Ellsworth Vines, Marty Furgol and loquacious Smiley Quick.

Trailing further back were such threats as Lloyd Mangrum, Herman Keiser, newcomer Jimmy Ukauka of Hilo, Hawaii, Ed Oliver and Chick Harbert, all with 72's.

Belloise Whips Villeman In Bloody Bout At Garden

11,863 See Veteran Defeat Frenchman

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Jan. 7(AP)—Rugged Steve Belloise, veteran Bronx middleweight, slugged out a unanimous 10-round decision over Robert Villeman, a 100 per cent game Frenchman making his American debut, tonight in blood-spattered Madison Square Garden ring. The fighters drew a tremendous ovation form the big crowd at the finish. Belloise weighted 157½, Villemain 159¾.

The stocky little Frenchman, bleeding freely from cuts around both eyes, made a smashing hit with the turnout of 11,863 who paid $35,-968 for the first Garden show of the year.

Referee Eddie Joseph had it close, 6-4 in favor of Belloise. Judge Harold Barnes had it Belloise 7-2 with one even and Judge Art Aidella had is Belloise 7-3. The AP score card found for the baldish Bronxite 8-1 with one even.

There were no knockdowns in the furious battle that was much more exciting than the unanimous vote would indicate. Belloise threw the harder punches but Villemain caught the fancy of the customers with his gameness.

When the squat Parisian rallied in the eighth, it sounded as though he were fighting in Gay Paree instead of in Belloise's own back yard.

Towering over his French foe, Belloise was able to keep off the slow-starting Villemain in the early rounds. Time after time he scored with that long left before he was able to open up Villemain for a right handed attack.

There was no disgrace about Villemain's first loss in a pro-career of 35 fights. Only one draw, with Mark Hart in London, marred his record before the defeat by Belloise.

Harry Markson, director of the 20th Century Sporting Club, was impressed by Villemain's performance. That probably means he will be back again.

George Small, 161, Brooklyn, eked out a split decision over Mickey Doyle, 161, Cleveland, in the eight-round semi-final.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL COMPLETES SEASON WITHOUT FATALITY

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 7. (AP) —College football went through the 1948 season without a fatality.

Dr. Floyd R. Eastwood made this report today to the American Football Coaches Association in convention here.

It was the 17th annual survey of football fatalities made by Dr. Eastwood, as chairman of the association's injury and fatality committee. He is professor of education at Los Angeles State College.

This was the fourth time since 1941 that American colleges completed a football season without a direct or indirect fatality, the report disclosed.

The survey revealed that of the 18 direct fatalities occurring in 1948, six were in "sandlots;" three in pro-semipro, and nine among the country's high school players. Eight fatalities were reported indirectly due to football.

Sentinels Win 45-32 For 7th Victory In Row

Huge First Half Lead Wins Game

By JOHN W. KNOWLTON

Holding the hapless LaSalle High School Explorers scoreless from the field for 14 minutes Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh's Fort Hill High cagers piled up a commanding first half lead and went on to defeat the Centre Streeters 45-32 last night on the Fort Hill court.

It was Fort Hill's seventh straight victory this season and opened the three-cornered city series.

Approximately 600 fans witnessed the rout, with the final tally not really telling the true picture. The Scarlet and White clad Sentinels packed too much height, speed and shooting ability for the Explorers running up the score 15-2 at the quarter and leading 27-6 at halftime.

Johnny Alderton opened the scoring about a minute after the opening whistle by caging a singleton after being fouled by Bobby Wood. A fielder by Alderton and fouls by Gene Mason and Charley Lattimer built the margin to 5-0 before Charles "Chuck" Sitter potted a free toss for the first point for LaSalle.

A one-hander from the side of the court by Jimmy Eckard and a layup by Alderton, a pivot shot by Lattimer and Mason's layup driving under the basket increased the Sentinels' lead to 13-1. Dick Leo then hooped LaSalle's second counter from the 15-foot stripe, but Lattimer picked up two more points for Fort Hill on a tip in of a rebound as the initial stanza closed.

Sentinels Lead 23 To 2

The high-scoring Sentinels continued to pop away, controlling the ball almost continuously to increase their margin to 23-2 with two minutes to go in the second period when Terrance Burke, substitute guard for Coach Johnny Mullaney's tossers, pitched in a set heave for LaSalle's first field goal. Eckard and Lattimer tallied twin-pointers for Fort Hill and Francis Kitzmiller dumped in a closeup to end the scoring for the first two periods.

LaSalle came back after the intermission to make a ball game of it the remainder of the contest but the huge lead was too much to overcome. Paced by Hugh Miller and Terry Burke, the Blue and Gold clad warriors broke through Fort Hill's tight defenses for the first time and outscored the Sentinels 12 to 8 in the third canto to trail 35-18 at the close of the quarter.

With substitutes dotting the Fort Hill lineup, LaSalle continued to edge up on the Sentinels, Miller's fielder and Norman Sell's singleton making it 35-21, before Mason counted from the foul line for the Cavanaughmen.

The defending city, WMI and state champions then increased their lead to 45-22 with 60 seconds remaining to play. LaSalle suddenly caught fire with everything thrown basketward going through and the fighting Explorers netted exactly 10 points in the final minute of play.

Sitter's foul, a one-hander by Terry Burke, two fouls by Burke, Louie Arnone's layup, a closeup by Leo and Philip Christ's one-handed heave from the corner closed out the scoring.

Two Players Ejected

Referees Herman Koegel and Clifton Van Roby called a total of 38 personals on the two teams—15 on Fort Hill and 23 on LaSalle. Sitter and Kitzmiller of LaSalle were the only two players ejected from the game on personals—the former leaving with three minutes to go in the final quarter and Sitters going out with only 10 seconds remaining.

Both teams exhibited a poor night at the charity stripe, Fort Hill caging only 9 of 26 while the Explorers netted 8 of 19.

Alderton, Glen Burke, and Lattimer were the best bets for the winners and Terry Burke, Miller and Leo were outstanding for LaSalle. Alderton paced the scorers with 11 points while Miller and Leo each had seven. The lineups:

Fort Hill	G.	F.	PF.	Pts.

The rally was featured by two goals and a foul by Lindsay, fielders by Loy and Fisher and Loy's foul goal.

The Hawks pulled up within six points of the Morgantown team at 36-30 midway in the final stanza when Paul Lindsay scored a fielder and two fouls but baskets by Solomon and Powley quickley settled the issue in the visitors' favor.

Wheeling's pace-setting Blues will come here Sunday night to battle Coach Louis H. "Red" Klotz's Cumberland Dukes in the third game of their six-game series in the All-American Professional Basketball League.

SS. Peter and Paul gym will be the scene of the action and the starting time is 9 o'clock.

Wheeling, coached by Jule Rivlin, made its first appearance in Cumberland on December 12 and went down before the Dukes, 74-65. In the second game of the series on the following night in Wheeling the Blues registered a 74-66 triumph over the Klotzmen.

Blues At Altoona Tonight

The West Virginians are leading the league at the present time with a 9-3 record, two full games in front of the Dukes and Altoona's Flyers who were knotted for the runner-up berth with 6-4 records. Wheeling's margin will be much narrower tonight if the Blues run into trouble at Altoona and the Flyers are usually "hot" on their home floor.

A victory for the Flyers tonight would reduce the Blues' edge to one full game over altoona which would mean that Cumberland must defeat Rivlin's outfit Sunday night to remain tied for second place.

A Wheeling sports writer predicts that the Blues will defeat both Altoona and Cumberland on their two-day road trip. This bit of news should be of special interest to the Flyers and Dukes.

Tomorrow's game will be the 14th of the current campaign for the Dukes. At home the team has won seven and lost two while on the road the record is one win and three defeats.

Bob Whip, business manager, announced yesterday that Ken Haggerty, one-time Holy Cross captain, will join the locals for tomorrow's game and John Ross, formerly of Baltimore U., and brother-in-law of Paul Oberhaus will be in the Dukes' lineup:

Geatz Starts At Center

Coach Klotz plans to start Bob Pence and Lou Bell at the forward positions, George Geatz at center, and Haggerty and Klotz at the guard posts. The local player-coach regards Geatz as one of the best defensive men on the team and he believes George is capable of cutting down the scoring power of Quinlan who collected 24 points in his last appearance here.

Paul Oberhaus, Gus Frizzell, Jim Clevenger, 'Babe" Johnson, Walter Orndorff and Bill Day are also expected to see action in the Sunday tilt.

Fred Paine, six-footer, who played with the Youngstown Cubs last season, and suffered an ankle injury in his first start with Wheeling two weeks ago may be able to play for the Blues in tomorrow's contest. Paine this year was the Baltimore Bullets of the BAA but later was traded to Providence of the same circuit and only recently released. He tips the beam at 220 and captained the Westminster College Titans in 1947. The Wheeling management is hopeful that he'll be available for duty tomorrow.

Other players on the Wheeling roster are Jimmy Quinlan, former Canisius star and high scorer of the team; Bobby Carroll, ex-West Virginia U. ace, Jimmie Ruch, Hank Ellis, Paul Herman, Gene Britt, Floatz Pelaez ,Hal Geisler, Kenneth Becker and Rivlin.

Good Drawing Card

The game is expected to attract a good-sized crowd because of the fact that the Dukes and Blues are two of the most evenly matched clubs in the six-team circuit.

The Big Five and the B. P. O. Elks will meet in the preliminary game at 7:30 o'clock.

League officials will handle the main event.

Moose Floormen Play In Hagerstown Sunday

Victorious in their last eight games and boasting a record of nine wins in 12 starts, Coach Jimmie Angellatta's Loyal Order of Moose basketball team will journey to Hagerstown tomorrow to play the Hagerstown Marketeers at 2 p. m. at the State Armory.

Twelve players will make the trip, leaving from the Moose Home at 11 a. m.

Dutch Harrison Posts Sub-Par 69 In First Round

Takes 5-Stroke Lead In Los Angeles Open

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 7 (AP) — Drawling E. J. (Dutch) Harrison paced the way through the first round of the annual $15,000 Los Angeles Open today as the nation's leading golfers launched the 1949 season.

Harrison, the veteran Arkansaw Traveler of golf's tournament trail, clipped two strokes off par with a well earned 69. Some 5,000 galleryites turned out for the opening round of the 23rd renewal of this mid-winter attraction.

Lagging behind in the well crowded 74 bracket, three strokes over par 71 for the 7,020-yard Riviera Course, was Ben Hogan, the favorite and winner of the past two Los Angeles opens.

Hogan's 37-37—74 was the worst opening round he has had in this tournament since he began dominating the event in 1947.

Jimmy Demaret and two dark horse amateurs from Los Angeles, Bobby Gardner and Nick Petropolo, finished tied at 70, and with Harrison completed the lone four out of 125 contestants able to better par today.

Eight challengers for Hogan's Los Angeles crown and the $2,600 first money equalled par, including Samuel Jackson Snead, Ellsworth Vines, Marty Furgol and loquacious Smiley Quick.

Trailing further back were such threats as Lloyd Mangrum, Herman Keiser, newcomer Jimmy Ukauka of Hilo, Hawaii, Ed Oliver and Chick Harbert, all with 72's.

Belloise Whips Villeman In Bloody Bout At Garden

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Jan. 7(AP)—Rugged Steve Belloise, veteran Bronx middleweight, slugged out a unanimous 10-round decision over Robert Villeman, a 100 per cent game Frenchman making his American debut, tonight in blood-spattered Madison Square Garden ring. The fighters drew a tremendous ovation form the big crowd at the finish. Belloise weighted 157½, Villemain 159¾.

The stocky little Frenchman, bleeding freely from cuts around both eyes, made a smashing hit with the turnout of 11,863 who paid $35,-968 for the first Garden show of the year.

Referee Eddie Joseph had it close, 6-4 in favor of Belloise. Judge Harold Barnes had it Belloise 7-2 with one even and Judge Art Aidella had is Belloise 7-3. The AP score card found for the baldish Bronxite 8-1 with one even.

There were no knockdowns in the furious battle that was much more exciting than the unanimous vote would indicate. Belloise threw the harder punches but Villemain caught the fancy of the customers with his gameness.

When the squat Parisian rallied in the eighth, it sounded as though he were fighting in Gay Paree instead of in Belloise's own back yard.

Towering over his French foe, Belloise was able to keep off the slow-starting Villemain in the early rounds. Time after time he scored with that long left before he was able to open up Villemain for a right handed attack.

There was no disgrace about Villemain's first loss in a pro-career of 35 fights. Only one draw, with Mark Hart in London, marred his record before the defeat by Belloise.

Harry Markson, director of the 20th Century Sporting Club, was impressed by Villemain's performance. That probably means he will be back again.

Sentinels Win 45-32 For 7th Victory In Row

Huge First Half Lead Wins Game

By JOHN W. KNOWLTON

Holding the hapless LaSalle High School Explorers scoreless from the field for 14 minutes Coach John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh's Fort Hill High cagers piled up a commanding first half lead and went on to defeat the Centre Streeters 45-32 last night on the Fort Hill court.

It was Fort Hill's seventh straight victory this season and opened the three-cornered city series.

Approximately 600 fans witnessed the rout, with the final tally not really telling the true picture. The Scarlet and White clad Sentinels packed too much height, speed and shooting ability for the Explorers running up the score 15-2 at the quarter and leading 27-6 at halftime.

Johnny Alderton opened the scoring about a minute after the opening whistle by caging a singleton after being fouled by Bobby Wood. A fielder by Alderton and fouls by Gene Mason and Charley Lattimer built the margin to 5-0 before Charles "Chuck" Sitter potted a free toss for the first point for LaSalle.

A one-hander from the side of the court by Jimmy Eckard and a layup by Alderton, a pivot shot by Lattimer and Mason's layup driving under the basket increased the Sentinels' lead to 13-1. Dick Leo then hooped LaSalle's second counter from the 15-foot stripe, but Lattimer picked up two more points for Fort Hill on a tip in of a rebound as the initial stanza closed.

Sentinels Lead 23 To 2

The high-scoring Sentinels continued to pop away, controlling the ball almost continuously to increase their margin to 23-2 with two minutes to go in the second period when Terrance Burke, substitute guard for Coach Johnny Mullaney's tossers, pitched in a set heave for LaSalle's first field goal. Eckard and Lattimer tallied twin-pointers for Fort Hill and Francis Kitzmiller dumped in a closeup to end the scoring for the first two periods.

LaSalle came back after the intermission to make a ball game of it the remainder of the contest but the huge lead was too much to overcome. Paced by Hugh Miller and Terry Burke, the Blue and Gold clad warriors broke through Fort Hill's tight defenses for the first time and outscored the Sentinels 12 to 8 in the third canto to trail 35-18 at the close of the quarter.

With substitutes dotting the Fort Hill lineup, LaSalle continued to edge up on the Sentinels, Miller's fielder and Norman Sell's singleton making it 35-21, before Mason counted from the foul line for the Cavanaughmen.

The defending city, WMI and state champions then increased their lead to 45-22 with 60 seconds remaining to play. LaSalle suddenly caught fire with everything thrown basketward going through and the fighting Explorers netted exactly 10 points in the final minute of play.

Sitter's foul, a one-hander by Terry Burke, two fouls by Burke, Louie Arnone's layup, a closeup by Leo and Philip Christ's one-handed heave from the corner closed out the scoring.

Two Players Ejected

Referees Herman Koegel and Clifton Van Roby called a total of 38 personals on the two teams—15 on Fort Hill and 23 on LaSalle. Sitter and Kitzmiller of LaSalle were the only two players ejected from the game on personals—the former leaving with three minutes to go in the final quarter and Sitters going out with only 10 seconds remaining.

Both teams exhibited a poor night at the charity stripe, Fort Hill caging only 9 of 26 while the Explorers netted 8 of 19.

Alderton, Glen Burke, and Lattimer were the best bets for the winners and Terry Burke, Miller and Leo were outstanding for LaSalle. Alderton paced the scorers with 11 points while Miller and Leo each had seven. The lineups:

JUST BETWEEN US

By NANCY MOTTRAM

Three 'No's' Add Up To 'Good-by'

Nancy Mottram

(Q) "Dear Nancy: I used to go with a girl, but a month ago, we had an argument, and didn't speak for a couple of weeks. Finally, I called her and told her it was foolish to act this way, and she agreed. So the following Saturday I phoned her for a date, as usual, but had an excuse, so I let it go at that. The next week, I tried again, but sheused the same excuse, and I haven't called her since. She still speaks to me when I see her on the street, and acts friendly, but won't date me. I can't make it out, so I'm asking you for some advice."

(A) Evidently, she intends to stay buddy-buddy with you, but that's all. In spite of what she told you, those excuses look as though you and she are through, as far as dating is concerned. Her idea could be to be friends, yet when Saturday night comes around, you aren't on her list. You might try just once more, but if the same things happens again, it'll show you right where you stand; and it would be best to forget her, and put your time and thought on another likely lass.

(Q) "Dear Nancy: I think a great deal of my best friend, and we used to tell each other everything, but she has begun deliberately to pry into my affairs, and I don't like it. She doesn't wait for me to tell her anything any longer, she questions me instead. There are some things I'd like to keep my private business, but she won't understand. If I do refuse to give her a minute by minute account of my doings, she gets mad and refuse to speak to me, because she thinks that I'm not living up to the standards of being a best friend. What should I do?"

(A) A best friend is there to help and understand, and to be one of the closest confidants you have, not to serve as a miniature FBI. Naturally, you have a few things that should remain your own personal business, and someone who can't help being suspicious and nagging, when she doesn't know the whole story about everything, should be put to rights fast. Let her know that although you trust her, and want to talk things over with her, your affairs are your own, and that there are some things that you'd prefer to keep private.

(Q) "Dear Nancy: I have started to go steady with a boy who has very definite ideas about what his girl should do and not do. He has asked me to stop seeing one or two of my friends that he doesn't care for, and has disapproved of some of the things I do or say. He tells me how he thinks I should act, and who I should see, and practically decides what I should think. I know that he's very fond of me, but I don't think that gives him any right to tell me what to do."

(A) He's boy you're dating, not an authority who lays down rules. It's not up to him to try to "reform" you, and tell you what's what. You're old enough to be able to figure things out for yourself, and not take another's word as absolute law. You're entitled to your opinions, and although you can always profit by advice or warnings, you're an individual, and have to learn to analyze and figure out situations yourself.

Nancy can help with all your teen-age problems. Write her in care of this newspaper.

Former Resident's Father Killed

L. D. Burrack, 54, Monticello, Iowa, father of Mrs. Lois Burrack Senft, former speech therapist here, was killed instantly at Fort Wayne, Ind., in an automobile crash, two days before Christmas, while en-route to Washington to spend the holidays with his daughter.

Indiana authorities state Burrack became overcome with fumes from the motor of his car and swerved from the road. As he brought the car back on the road, he struck another car. His wife, who was riding with him, suffered a fractured clavicle and concussion. She is recovering at home.

Funeral rites for Burrack were held in Monticello December 28.

Over $4,000 Collected On Drunk Driving Charges

Fines or forfeited bonds totalling $4,148.95 were gathered in Trial Magistrates Court last year from 41 motorists arested on drunken driving charges.

Seven others were acquitted and a similar charge against one driver was dismissed. Another operator was sentenced to serve 30 days in Allegany county jail and eight drew terms ranging from 30 to 60 days in default of fines paid later.

Court records show that nine hit-run drivers were nabbed during the 12-month period. A total of 992 motor vehicle trials were heard and fines and costs remitted to the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles amounted to $11,835.30.

Of the 41, seven who failed to appear for hearings forfeited $710.15. Thirty-four paid fines totaling $3,438.80. In the majority of cases, drivers were involved in collisions and other traffic mishaps.

McDonough Gets Six-Month Term

A six-month sentence in the Maryland House of Correction was handed down to Charles McDonough yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court after he was accused of violating conditions of the suspended sentence imposed last week on an assault charge.

Police said McDonough was previously found guilty of striking his brother, Edgar J. McDonough, December 31, and was given a suspended term on condition he be of good behavior, stop drinking alcoholic beverages and remain away from the Lennox Place home of his mother.

McDonough was arrested yesterday afternoon on a court order.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

The proprietor of a dusty and dilapidated bookshop south of City Hall appeared at the old publishing office of Horace Liveright one day and pleaded desperately for an extra 3 per cent discount. Jack Clapp, Liveright salesman, stopped him later in the reception room, and said, "Why are you so anxious for that extra 3 per cent? You know and I know that you'll never pay your bill anyhow."

"Liveright's always played ball with me," the bookseller explained, "and I'd like to keep his loss on me as low as possible."

Richard Tregaskis, author of "Guadalcanal Diary," could eat more than any other four correspondents put together. One evening he could not quite put away a four-pound steak single-handed, and remarked despondently, to Ward Greene, "I think I've lost my appetite." "I hope," said Greene, "no other newspaperman has found it. It would ruin him in a week."

Nancy Mottram

(Q) "Dear Nancy: I used to go with a girl, but a month ago, we had an argument, and didn't speak for a couple of weeks. Finally, I called her and told her it was foolish to act this way, and she agreed. So the following Saturday I phoned her for a date, as usual, but had an excuse, so I let it go at that. The next week, I tried again, but she used the same excuse, and I haven't called her since. She still speaks to me when I see her on the street, and acts friendly, but won't date me. I can't make it out, so I'm asking you for some advice."

(A) Evidently, she intends to stay buddy-buddy with you, but that's all. In spite of what she told you, those excuses look as though you and she are through, as far as dating is concerned. Her idea could be to be friends, yet when Saturday night comes around, you aren't on her list. You might try just once more, but if the same things happens again, it'll show you right where you stand; and it would be best to forget her, and put your time and thought on another likely lass.

(Q) "Dear Nancy: I think a great deal of my best friend, and we used to tell each other everything, but she has begun deliberately to pry into my affairs, and I don't like it. She doesn't wait for me to tell her anything any longer, she questions me instead. There are some things I'd like to keep my private business, but she won't understand. If I do refuse to give her a minute by minute account of my doings, she gets mad and refuse to speak to me, because she thinks that I'm not living up to the standards of being a best friend. What should I do?"

(A) A best friend is there to help and understand, and to be one of the closest confidants you have, not to serve as a miniature FBI. Naturally, you have a few things that should remain your own personal business, and someone who can't help being suspicious and nagging, when she doesn't know the whole story about everything, should be put to rights fast. Let her know that although you trust her, and want to talk things over with her, your affairs are your own, and that there are some things that you'd prefer to keep private.

(Q) "Dear Nancy: I have started to go steady with a boy who has very definite ideas about what his girl should do and not do. He has asked me to stop seeing one or two of my friends that he doesn't care for, and has disapproved of some of the things I do or say. He tells me how he thinks I should act, and who I should see, and practically decides what I should think. I know that he's very fond of me, but I don't think that gives him any right to tell me what to do."

(A) He's boy you're dating, not an authority who lays down rules. It's not up to him to try to "reform" you, and tell you what's what. You're old enough to be able to figure things out for yourself, and not take another's word as absolute law. You're entitled to your opinions, and although you can always profit by advice or warnings, you're an individual, and have to learn to analyze and figure out situations yourself.

Former Resident's Father Killed

L. D. Burrack, 54, Monticello, Iowa, father of Mrs. Lois Burrack Senft, former speech therapist here, was killed instantly at Fort Wayne, Ind., in an automobile crash, two days before Christmas, while enroute to Washington to spend the holidays with his daughter.

Indiana authorities state Burrack became overcome with fumes from the motor of his car and swerved from the road. As he brought the car back on the road, he struck another car. His wife, who was riding with him, suffered a fractured clavicle and concussion. She is recovering at home.

Funeral rites for Burrack were held in Monticello December 28.

Over $4,000 Collected On Drunk Driving Charges

Fines or forfeited bonds totalling $4,148.95 were gathered in Trial Magistrates Court last year from 41 motorists arested on drunken driving charges.

Seven others were acquitted and a similar charge against one driver was dismissed. Another operator was sentenced to serve 30 days in Allegany county jail and eight drew terms ranging from 30 to 60 days in default of fines paid later.

Court records show that nine hit-run drivers were nabbed during the 12-month period. A total of 992 motor vehicle trials were heard and fines and costs remitted to the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles amounted to $11,835.30.

Of the 41, seven who failed to appear for hearings forfeited $710.15. Thirty-four paid fines totaling $3,438.80. In the majority of cases, drivers were involved in collisions and other traffic mishaps.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

The proprietor of a dusty and dilapidated bookshop south of City Hall appeared at the old publishing office of Horace Liveright one day and pleaded desperately for an extra 3 per cent discount. Jack Clapp, Liveright salesman, stopped him later in the reception room, and said, "Why are you so anxious for that extra 3 per cent? You know and I know that you'll never pay your bill anyhow."

"Liveright's always played ball with me," the bookseller explained, "and I'd like to keep his loss on me as low as possible."

Richard Tregaskis, author of "Guadalcanal Diary," could eat more than any other four correspondents put together. One evening he could not quite put away a four-pound steak single-handed, and remarked despondently, to Ward Greene, "I think I've lost my appetite." "I hope," said Greene, "no other newspaperman has found it. It would ruin him in a week."

McDonough Gets Six-Month Term

A six-month sentence in the Maryland House of Correction was handed down to Charles McDonough yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court after he was accused of violating conditions of the suspended sentence imposed last week on an assault charge.

Police said McDonough was previously found guilty of striking his brother, Edgar J. McDonough, December 31, and was given a suspended term on condition he be of good behavior, stop drinking alcoholic beverages and remain away from the Lennox Place home of his mother.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 7—(INS)—In Hollywood in search of talent is Lazar Wexler, who produced "The Search," one of the finest motion pictures last year.

Greta Garbo

Wexler first brought Montgomery Clift to fame in this extraordinary film.

Wexler told me he is here to find two actors for his next picture, the story of thousands of GI's who visit Switzerland on their leaves. It is an after-the-war romance between a GI and a Swiss girl. He has already signed Josette Day, who was in "Beauty and the Beast," to play the girl. Now he wants two Hollywood actors.

"The Search," he told me, was photographed in Switzerland. He said it was a heartbreak to him that Czechoslovakians had never seen "The Search" because it has never been allowed to be shown in that Russian-controlled country. The American boy, played by Montgomery Clift, is too much of a hero, he said.

I asked him about the wonderful child, Ivan Jandl. He told me he didn't know what had happened to the little boy, who was really a refugee.

All those silly rumors that Mary Astor would never work again can be thrown right in the ashcan. At the time she was so sick with a bad cold, she telephoned with tears in her voice, unhappy over the talk of her bad health. "It's only a cold and not sinus," she said.

Well, Mary is very much on the job again at MGM. She is in "Any Number Can Play," and has an interesting role—that of Ada, an old flame of Clark Gable.

Frank Morgan, who was vacationing in Palm Springs, hotfooted it back to town after he read the role of the gambler in Clark's picture that Mervyn Leroy wanted for him. Yes, he is in the picture, and so is Dorothy Cummingore, who returns to the screen after a long absence.

My redhaired friend has signed for "Dear Wife," the sequel to "Dear Ruth" at Paramount, along with Bill Holden and Joan Caulfield.

"Funny part is," Arleen told me, "I've been busy playing 'Dear Wife' in private life, golfing and going to movies with Hugh on our vacation out here. Now I'm going to be the other woman."

Garbo turned up at a party in New York given by Dodo and Jim Pendleton, with a new escort—Jean Cocteau, famous French producer, no less.

Garry Moore's mother, Mrs. Nasor Morfit, is ill in Baltimore. He has flown there to be at her bedside.

At the Kings Marilyn Maxwell was with Joe Kirkwood, Jr. Isn't that a new twosome?

All of us were scolding Al Rogell at Santa Anita for not tipping us off about his horse, Portland's Big, which paid $48 for $2. He said he didn't have a cent on it himself. But his wife had given $15 to play across the board for her.

Ella Raines Olds postcards from Switzerland that she and Major Olds had Christmas dinner with Norma Shearer and Marty Arrouge. Says Ella, "I'm taking skiing lessons from Marty, but there is very little snow—the first time such a thing has happened here in fifty years." Well, we had snow in California!

Peter Lawford and Keenan Wynn hosted a cocktail party today at Ciro's in honor of Lucille Ball. A toast was drunk to Lucille and her new radio show, "My Favorite Husband"—and, of course, he was there—her real favorite husband, Desi Arnaz.

Maxine Bond, who was with Phil Spitalny's Band until she retired to marry the rich Charles Anson Bond, clothing manufacturer, is now singing at the Warwick Hotel in New York.

The safety-pin set is certainly social these days. Ridgely Howard, three-year-old man-about-the-nursery, has invited Candy Bergen, Lindsay Briskin, Joan Crawford's two youngest and many more to his birthday party tomorrow. His mother, Dorothy Lamour, and his father, Bill Howard, will be on hand, natch.

That's all today.

NEWS FROM THE TRI-STATE AREA

KEYSER

Keyser, Roads Group Agree On Bridge Traffic

Agreement Specifies 25-Foot-Wide Street

KEYSER, W. Va.—An agreement between the West Virginia State Road Commission and the city of Keyser concerning approaches and streets in connection with the proposed Keyser-McCoole bridge was reached at a special meeting of the City Council with Mayor John C. Freeland, recently.

The agreement provides for a 25-foot wide street in addition to a sidewalk on the east side of the bridge between Center and Armstrong Streets. The street will be maintained as a state highway. It also provides for a pavement for southbound traffic on the west side of the bridge between Armstrong and Center Streets.

The agreement gives the State Road Commission permission from the City of Keyser to connect surface drainage to existing sewers; prohibits parking of vehicles on the east side of Mineral Street between Center and Armstrong streets with the exception of stops for loading and unloading, and restricts traffic on the west side of Mineral Street between Armstrong and Center to a southbound direction.

The approach viaduct between Center and the West Virginia-Maryland state line, when completed, will be accepted by the city and recognized as a public street of Keyser. The obligation to maintain the viaduct will be the obligation of the State Road Commission, the agreement provides.

The agreement prohibits vehicular traffic from turning from the bridge into the northbound traffic lane on Mineral Street between Center and Armstrong Streets, and limits the turning movement of southbound traffic on the east side of the bridge to left turn only. "Left Turn Only" signs directing southbound traffic on the street on the east side of the bridge will be erected by the city.

An ordinance or ordinances setting forth the provisions of the agreement will be drawn and approved by the council members, it was indicated at yesterday's meeting.

NEWS FROM THE TRI-STATE AREA

KEYSER

Keyser, Roads Group Agree On Bridge Traffic

Agreement Specifies 25-Foot-Wide Street

KEYSER, W. Va.—An agreement between the West Virginia State Road Commission and the city of Keyser concerning approaches and streets in connection with the proposed Keyser-McCoole bridge was reached at a special meeting of the City Council with Mayor John C. Freeland, recently.

The agreement provides for a 25-foot wide street in addition to a sidewalk on the east side of the bridge between Center and Armstrong Streets. The street will be maintained as a state highway. It also provides for a pavement for southbound traffic on the west side of the bridge between Armstrong and Center Streets.

The agreement gives the State Road Commission permission from the City of Keyser to connect surface drainage to existing sewers; prohibits parking of vehicles on the east side of Mineral Street between Center and Armstrong streets with the exception of stops for loading and unloading, and restricts traffic on the west side of Mineral Street between Armstrong and Center to a southbound direction.

The approach viaduct between Center and the West Virginia-Maryland state line, when completed, will be accepted by the city and recognized as a public street of Keyser. The obligation to maintain the viaduct will be the obligation of the State Road Commission, the agreement provides.

The agreement prohibits vehicular traffic from turning from the bridge into the northbound traffic lane on Mineral Street between Center and Armstrong Streets, and limits the turning movement of southbound traffic on the east side of the bridge to left turn only. "Left Turn Only" signs directing southbound traffic on the street on the east side of the bridge will be erected by the city.

An ordinance or ordinances setting forth the provisions of the agreement will be drawn and approved by the council members, it was indicated at yesterday's meeting.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Agnes L. Hahne, who departed this life three years ago, January 8, 1946.
There is a Home not made by hands,
Beyond its golden door
Not lost—Just gone before.
And in that Home not made by hands,
The Master will prepare,
A place for us and when He calls.
We'll meet our loved one There.
Sadly missed by her
Husband and Children.

In loving memory of our dear Mother, Mrs. Annie Reed, who passed away 14 years ago today, January 8.
Deep in our hearts lies a picture,
More precious than silver or gold,
It's a picture of our dear Mother,
Whose memory will never grow old.
Sadly missed by
Mrs. Mary Cordry
Warren, Ohio

31—Help Wanted

HUSBAND AND WIFE OPPORTUNITY!
Cumberland and Surrounding Territory
You and your wife will find this very interesting if you read it carefully, and THINK.
Could you be persuaded to hire a maid to cook your meals, make your bed and tidy up the house—or even get a "baby-sitter" to take care of the children so that your wife can be free to assist you in making from $8,000 to $20,000 in profits and commissions, according to your joint ambition, your INTEREST and ACTIVITY—during 1949?
Could you not afford a maid and a "baby-sitter" if you had an income like that? Are you interested in that kind of money? Would your wife give you her support in a program that would assure both of you such an opportunity?
Do you have a car? (If not, how are you ever going to get one unless you can increase your income?) If you do have a car, would you not find it pleasant and probably a little romantic to leave home each morning with your wife beside you, and have her work with you, and encourage you, and assist you in a clean, profitable, permanent business arrangement?
Age is not important. Ambition is important.
There is no substitute for an open mind; without it you can neither grasp nor handle a new thing, or a new opportunity.
If you ever intend to do something big—NOW is the time to do it.
Apply in person at the Algonquin Hotel, Monday, Jan. 10th, at 11 a. m. or 8 p. m. sharp. No other time. Ask for Mr. Sharrah.
BRING YOUR WIFE WITH YOU in good faith, and you will be treated accordingly.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Agnes L. Hahne, who departed this life three years ago, January 8, 1946.
There is a Home not made by hands,
Beyond its golden door
Awaits the one who's now away,
Not lost—Just gone before.
And in that Home not made by hands,
The Master will prepare,
A place for us and when He calls,
We'll meet our loved one There.
Sadly missed by her
Husband and Children.

In loving memory of our dear Mother, Mrs. Annie Reed, who passed away 14 years ago today, January 8.
Deep in our hearts lies a picture,
More precious than silver or gold,
It's a picture of our dear Mother,
Whose memory will never grow old.
Sadly missed by
Mrs. Mary Cordry
Warren, Ohio

31—Help Wanted

HUSBAND AND WIFE OPPORTUNITY!
Cumberland and Surrounding Territory
You and your wife will find this very interesting if you read it carefully, and THINK.
Could you be persuaded to hire a maid to cook your meals, make your bed and tidy up the house—or even get a "baby-sitter" to take care of the children so that your wife can be free to assist you in making from $8,000 to $20,000 in profits and commissions, according to your joint ambition, your INTEREST and ACTIVITY—during 1949?
Could you not afford a maid and a "baby-sitter" if you had an income like that? Are you interested in that kind of money? Would your wife give you her support in a program that would assure both of you such an opportunity?
Do you have a car? (If not, how are you ever going to get one unless you can increase your income?) If you do have a car, would you not find it pleasant and probably a little romantic to leave home each morning with your wife beside you, and have her work with you, and encourage you, and assist you in a clean, profitable, permanent business arrangement?
Age is not important. Ambition is important.
There is no substitute for an open mind; without it you can neither grasp nor handle a new thing, or a new opportunity.
If you ever intend to do something big—NOW is the time to do it.
Apply in person at the Algonquin Hotel, Monday, Jan. 10th, at 11 a. m. or 8 p. m. sharp. No other time. Ask for Mr. Sharrah.
BRING YOUR WIFE WITH YOU in good faith, and you will be treated accordingly.

"Who's been poppin' corn in the clothes drier I got with a Times-News Want Ad?"

Despite Dose Of Selling Orders, Market Reaches Two-Month High

NEW YORK, Jan. 7 (AP) — The stock market reached the highest average level in two months today despite a late dose of selling orders.

Chrysler was one of the highest steppers, rising more than three points at one time following news that directors had lifted the dividend to $1.25 a share from one dollar previously paid quarterly. The stock closed 2½ up at 57.

Barnsdall Oil established a new 1948-49 high at 47½ with a 2½-point advance and Coco-Cola added 4 at 141.

Also higher were U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Goodrich, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Consolidated Natural Gas, American Smelting, General Electric, Union Carbide, Du Pont, Allied Chemical, American Woolen, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Southern Railway, Northern Pacific, Atlantic Coast Line, Illinois Central, Standard Oil (NJ), United Air Lines, and Paramount Pictures.

American Telephone was among a handful of losers, along with Republic Steel, Woolworth, Boeing, Schenley, and Radio Corp.

The bond market swept along today on its forward drive of the past two days with only a small handful of losses marring the full list.

Closing 1⅞ higher were Illinois Central 4¾s, which went to 85⅜; Southern Pacific 4½s of '69, at 94¼, and West Shore 4s, moving to 62⅞.

Other gainers included Boston & Maine 4½s, Monon 4½s, Milwaukee Income 4½s and Gulf, Mobile & Ohio 4s.

U. S. Governments were mostly unchanged in over-the-counter dealings.

Despite Dose Of Selling Orders, Market Reaches Two-Month High

NEW YORK, Jan. 7 (AP) — The stock market reached the highest average level in two months today despite a late dose of selling orders.

Chrysler was one of the highest steppers, rising more than three points at one time following news that directors had lifted the dividend to $1.25 a share from one dollar previously paid quarterly. The stock closed 2½ up at 57.

Barnsdall Oil established a new 1948-49 high at 47½ with a 2½-point advance and Coco-Cola added 4 at 141.

Also higher were U. S. Y. Central, Southern Railway, Northern Pacific, Atlantic Coast Line, Illinois Central, Standard Oil (NJ), United Air Lines, and Paramount Pictures.

American Telephone was among a handful of losers, along with Republic Steel, Woolworth, Boeing, Schenley, and Radio Corp.

The bond market swept along today on its forward drive of the past two days with only a small handful of losses marring the full list.

Closing 1⅞ higher were Illinois Central 4¾s, which went to 85⅜; Southern Pacific 4½s of '69, at 94¼, and West Shore 4s, moving to 62⅞.

Other gainers included Boston & Maine 4½s, Monon 4½s, Milwaukee Income 4½s and Gulf, Mobile & Ohio 4s.

U. S. Governments were mostly unchanged in over-the-counter dealings.

Poultry Industry Possibilities To Be Studied Here

Groups To Present Conservation Aims

The possibilities for developing a poultry industry in this area will be investigated by the Agriculture committee of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, it was announced yesterday.

Plans for the study were set in motion yesterday at a meeting of the committee headed by William W. Nace, district conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service.

The plan resulted from a recommendation of Harold W. Smith, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, who became interested in the industry during a visit to Maine last summer.

Smith said the poultry industry has never been placed on a commercial basis in Allegany County but that all of the fundamental conditions seem to be available here.

Further development of the Cumberland Fair also will be studied by the group.

The committee, at a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce offices, yesterday completed arrangements for a series of conservation programs on local radio stations.

The programs will be presented by the Chamber of Commerce, the county agent, home demonstration agent, 4-H boys and girls, Future Farmers of America, Farmer's Home Administration, Division of State Forests and Parks, Game and Inland Fish Commission, Soil Conservation Service, AAA, Bureau of Mines and the public schools of Allegany County.

Arbitrator Rules For Employes In Suspension Case

Cites Firm's Right To Curb Stretch Out

In an award dated January 4, I. Robert Feinberg, New York arbitrator, ruled that five employes of the preparation department of the spinning department were improperly suspended from their positions at the Celanese plant between July 20 and July 28.

He further ruled that the Celanese Corporation of America "shall reimburse" the employes, John Weslow, Leslie Duckworth, Conda Bennett, Kenneth Grimes and Walter Reinhart, for wages lost by them during their suspensions for failing to meet a time limitation on an operation.

The issue, submitted by Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, and the Celanese Corporation, arose from the union claim that the five workers were improperly suspended and should be reimbursed for lost earnings.

In awarding for the union, Feinberg stressed the decision was not to mean that the company cannot take appropriate steps to curtail a "stretch out" if one in fact exists, nor to say that the two-hour limitation was unreasonable.

It is significant, he pointed out, that since the suspensions took place, all employes have been able to perform the operation within the time. It may well be, he said, that the rule is fair and reasonable, although that question is not decided in the opinion.

May Impose Standards

Nor is the ruling, he pointed out, intended to prevent the company from setting a time standard in the absence of consent of the union. Once a fair opportunity for discussion has been afforded the union and if the parties are unable to agree, the company might place the rule in effect subject to the invocation by the union of its right to arbitrate the issue.

He also said the award applied solely to the facts of the case and to the imposition of a time limitation on the operation involved, but was not intended to cast doubt on the authority of the company to

League Elects New Officers

BALTIMORE, Jan. 7 (AP)—Mayor John C. Post of Takoma Park today was elected president of the newly formed Maryland League of Municipalities at its first convention.

Unequal representation of cities in their state legislatures was one of the main topics of the day.

Donoh W. Hanks, Jr., assistant director of the American Municipal Association, told the mayors, city councilmen, and other city officials that it was a nation-wide problem.

"It is one of the causes of the plight of some of our cities," he declared.

"In 20 states, over half of the population live in municipalities yet their legislautres are predominantly rural. This situation is well known and needs no elaborating. We must correct it, not only because equitable representation will help the municipalities gain solutions to their problems in the legislatures, but because it is in the American tradition and is the democratic ideal."

Named to the League's executive committee were Lloyd B. Mathias, mayor of Mt. Rainier, and Henry W. Hanna, city councilman at Salisbury.

Representation in the Maryland General Assembly is a subject scheduled to come before the State Legislature in its session just now getting under way. A reapportionment proposal has been approved by the Legislative Council, after considerable controversy, and it is almost sure to encounter rough going in the Assembly.

Local officials attending the meeting are Mayor Thomas S. Post, second vice president of the League; Commissioners William V. Keegan and William H. Buchholtz; City Attorney Thomas B. Finan and George M. Hitchcock, smoke abatement engineer.

Assistant Forester Reports On Causes, Cures Of Flood Dangers

With spring not too far away, most countians, farmers and city dwellers alike, turn their attention to the danger of floods. To aid farmers in contributing toward flood control, Carl G. Heczko, assistant district forester, has written a report on the causes and cures of flood dangers.

Heczko pointed out that the best natural flood control agent is land well stocked with trees. He said tests in the Ohio Valley showed soil of a hardwood forest absorbed 14 times as much water per minute as the soil of an adjacent open field.

Forest land plays a large part in checking surface runoff at Lakes Gordon and Koon, Heczko said, pointing out that after a period of rainy weather small streams flowing into the lakes from the west and north are overflowing with silt-laden water.

The streams, he pointed out, originate in an area where steeply sloping land is used for cultivation. On the eastern side, he added, clear water flows into the lakes because the streams originate on the wooded slopes of Evitts mountain. The level of this water, he said, is hardly increased by rainfall. Most of the water entering the lakes from the east does so by underground seepage, he added. It does not need to be filtered even after long periods of rainy weather, Heczko said.

"Forest soil," he pointed out, "is loose and covered with a deep layer of humus which prevents the soil from freezing during cold weather. Rainfall sinks into this loose porous soil and trickles down under the surface of the ground, eventually being discharged at some lower level through springs or seeps without doing any damage to the topsoil.

"On the other hand pasture, grass land and cultivated fields have less porous soil through which water

Sgt. Shields Cites Police Qualifications

"You can't hang a badge and a gun on a man and call him an officer," Sgt. H. R. Shields, Romney, area supervisor of the West Virginia Department of Public Safety, declared Wednesday night in an address before the Fort Ashby Lions Club.

In his speech on the service of a police officer, Sgt. Shields, a member of the State Police for 21 years, discussed major problems facing law enforcement officers of West Virginia.

The prevention of crime, he said, is the first duty of each officer although the apprehension of criminals and patrol of highways take up much of an officer's time.

He pointed out that officers are often unjustly criticized for delay in investigating complaints, explaining that calls must be taken in order of importance since staffs at most stations are small.

Four members of the Oakland Lions Club were guests at the meeting held in the Methodist Church of Fort Ashby.

Committee reports will be submitted at a meeting Wednesday, January 19, at 6:30 p. m., according to Melvin H. Martin, president.

Special Grand Jury Report Critical Of Conditions In State Asylums

BALTIMORE, Jan. 7 (AP) — A special grand jury report filed today said patients in Maryland's mental hospital were "getting less in the way of treatment than that to which they are justly entitled" because of overcrowded and understaffed conditions.

The report came from a grand jury subcommittee headed by Dr. William H. Tripplett. It covered Springfield State Hospital, Spring Grove State Hospital, Crownsville State Hospital for negroes and the Baltimore City hospital.

At Springfield, the report complained, there are 400 employes on the payroll while 647 are provided for in the budget. Lack of housing and subsequent salary adjustments for those providing their own quarters, and working hours and conditions were given as reasons for the small staff.

The report said there were 3,039 patients at Springfield, an institution with an official capacity of 2,100.

At Spring Grove, the 2,366 patients are jammed together, the subcommittee declared. They are cared for by a staff of 310. The budget calls for a staff of 539.

As to Crownsville, the committee said it was "a sad commentary" on the state that conditions there never seem to change in spite of repeated recommendations of past grand juries.

Crownsville has 1,780 patients, the report continues, in space suited for only 1,090. It complained also of understaffing there and blamed that and overcrowding for frequent escapes from the institution.

Imperfect conditions in Baltimore City Hospitals were laid to a personnel shortage. The report unged prompt creation of a Tuberculosis hospital and remodeling of the hospital infirmary.

Commission To Debate Federal Pollution Aid

Policy Declaration Will Be Sought

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (AP) — A policy on federal aid to control stream pollution will be debated tomorrow by members of the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin.

Several members expressed the view that there should be federal aid for stream pollution work as well as for other public projects.

Chairman Raymond V. Long, of Richmond, Va., named a committee of five to draw up a resolution to be debated tomorrow. He appointed State Senator L. Harold Sothoron, of Maryland; Harold A. Kemp, District of Columbia; City Manager I. G. Vass, of Waynesboro, K. S. Watson, of Charleston, W. Va., and Harry Shaw, of the District.

The commission would seek a congressional policy declaration through the council of state governments.

Robert McCall, of Charleston, and Vass told the commission the big question always asked in conferences on pollution control is where the money is coming from.

Vass said the lack of a definite policy in the matter of federal aid is delaying the start of pollution control projects.

"In Virginia a majority vote of the citizens is required" for a bond issue, he said, and as long as there is a considerable group "holding back to see what the federal government is going to do, it slows up the work."

H. A. Trebler, New York technical consultant and member of the commission's industrial committee, said he doubts that industry wants more grants from the government. "It means more interference," he added.

Shaw and Kemp contended there should be no more hesitancy in asking federal help for pollution control than for highways and harbors.

The commission today also:

1. Voted to ask the Agriculture Department for a re-survey of the Potomac Basin.

2. Adopted a recommendation for establishment of a demonstration area in pollution control on a small stream or streams in the basin, and named a committee to suggest locations.

3. Voted to continue study of stream conditions in the Washington metropolitan area.

4. Voted to ask the Public Health Service for a survey of the river between Key Bridge, Washington, and Great Falls, about 15 miles upstream.

Legion To Honor 30-Year Members

Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, will pay tribute to its 30-year members at ceremonies Tuesday night when certificates and uniform patches will be awarded. A membership program is also planned.

Officers of the post said approximately 14 members will receive the awards. They are all charter members of the local post which was founded in 1919—30 years ago.

Plans for the program have not yet been completed, officers said last night, but they added they expect the awards to be presented by a post officer.

The patches are designed and issued by the National organization and can be worn on either the Legion uniform or cap. Other posts throughout the country are planning similar ceremonies.

Gas Company To Enlarge, Renew Three Pipe Lines

Work Completed On New Mapleside Main

City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer yesterday granted permits to the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company to enlarge and renew four-inch lines in the Williams Street, Fourth Street and Columbia Avenue sections.

Carl C. Robbins, district manager, said the three lines have not been renewed since they were laid in 1907.

Robbins also announced that work has just been completed on laying 1,900 feet of a new six-inch pipe line from Virginia Avenue to Massachusetts Avenue and Mapleside.

The work, which was in progress four months, will increase the volume of gas available to Mapleside consumers.

Robbins said work on renewing the three four-inch lines will start next week and will take about 30 days. He said overall cost of that work plus laying the new Mapleside line will amount to between $12,000 and $14,000.

Lines to be renewed and enlarged include the pipe crossing Williams Street at Dorn Avenue; the connecting line from Fourth to Homer Streets; and the line on Columbia Avenue between Pulaski and Holland Streets.

Rizer inspected the locations yesterday with Fred Goss, foreman for the gas company, prior to granting permits for the work. Plats of the areas were filed in the city engineer's office.

Rizer explains the gas company pays for Street Department work in restoring streets after lines are laid or renewed.

No Vote Taken On Romney, W.Va. Water Equipment

Mayor Says City's Supply Is Pure

ROMNEY, W. Va.—Mayor Blair M. Haines denied last night that any vote was taken on immediate installation of new equipment in the municipal water plant at Thursday night's Town Council meeting following charges that the town water supply was polluted.

Mayor Haines expressed himself satisfied as to the purity of Romney water and said not only was no vote taken for the installation of equipment, but there had been no motion raised on the subject.

The meeting Thursday was a routine council meeting during which the matter was discussed following charges last week by Dr. J. F. Easton, Romney physician, that the water supply was contaminated.

Dr. Easton published last week a report from the Cumberland Laboratories which said two samples from the town water supply contained a large number of possibly harmful bacteria.

Filter System Asked

In a statement with the report, Dr. Easton asked for the installation of an efficient filter system and, in particular, notification by city authorities when the water was unsafe for drinking. In his opinion, he said, the water was contaminated.

William F. Waller, Keyser, W. Va., senior sanitarian of District No. 5, of the West Virginia State Department of Health, said that Dr. Easton's statement was "not founded on fact."

Waller said in a public report of yesterday that three visits were made during the past four months by engineers from the State Department of Health to inspect the operations of the Romney plant.

Monthly samples of water taken by C. E. Bright, Hampshire County engineer, show that the water meets the standards for safety of the U. S. Public Health office, Walter stated.

He clarified his statement by saying that the reports on samples of the water supply taken in accord with the standard method of analysis and examined in state laboratories during the past year are available for inspection.

Were Not Refrigerated

Walter denied the reliability of Dr. Easton's samples as laboratory officials said they were note tested immediately after being taken from the water supply and had not been refrigerated..

An authority on water analysis said that according to U. S. Public Health Standards, an effective test can only be taken within two hours of drawing a sample unless the specimen is refrigerated. If the water had been refrigerated, the test would have been accurate if taken the next day.

Dr. Easton said he brought the specimen to Cumberland December 17 after the laboratory was closed and left it at the Cumberland Police Department for safekeeping.

The authority added that there were more bacteria in the sample than are considered safe by Public Health standards. He explained, however, that since the sample was not refrigerated, it is possible the bacteria could have multiplied while the water was standing at room temperature.

In a statement last night, Mayor Haines admitted the Romney water supply was sometimes cloudy. He attributed this to the lack of sufficient storage space for shutting off the supply when the river is high. He remarked the system had been built for a 1000-resident city which has doubled in population.

Larger Reservoir Planned

Plans have been drawn and approved by the Board of Health for two or three years for a larger reservoir, but there have been no funds for the project, he said.

The mayor admitted the Health Department has asked the city to install a lime feeder for filtering the water. Several months ago, prices were received on the project and the matter is under discussion. He emphasized, however, that no action has been taken.

A special meeting was not called on water pollution because complaint came from only one source, according to the mayor. He added that Waller had inspected the water equipment after reading Dr. Easton's report in a Romney paper and was invited to speak to the council.

Cars Damaged In Collision

Two cars were slightly damaged in a collision on Baltimore Avenue Thursday afternoon at 2:30.

The driver of one of the cars, Lester Merle Hinkle, 20, Flintstone, filed a report at Police Headquarters in which he said his brake line broke as he was traveling west on Baltimore Avenue, causing his sedan to strike another sedan going in the same direction, and a parked bus.

He listed the driver of the other car as Ernest Poole, Flintstone. The bus driver, he said, was Bernard Anderson, RFD 3, Cumberland. Damage to Hinkle's car was estimated at $100 and to the Poole car, $95.

Hinkle said his speed at the time of the accident was 15 miles per hour. No charges have been preferred.

Poultry Industry Possibilities To Be Studied Here

Groups To Present Conservation Aims

The possibilities for developing a poultry industry in this area will be investigated by the Agriculture committee of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, it was announced yesterday.

Plans for the study were set in motion yesterday at a meeting of the committee headed by William W. Nace, district conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service.

The plan resulted from a recommendation of Harold W. Smith, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, who became interested in the industry during a visit to Maine last summer.

Smith said the poultry industry has never been placed on a commercial basis in Allegany County but that all of the fundamental conditions seem to be available here.

In Maine, he added, 21,473 poultry farms last year raised 2,183,000 hens which produced over 22 million eggs.

Further development of the Cumberland Fair also will be studied by the group.

The committee, at a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce offices, yesterday completed arrangements for a series of conservation programs on local radio stations.

The programs will be presented by the Chamber of Commerce, the county agent, home demonstration agent, 4-H boys and girls, Future Farmers of America, Farmer's Home Administration, Division of State Forests and Parks, Game and Inland Fish Commission, Soil Conservation Service, AAA, Bureau of Mines and the public schools of Allegany County.

Arbitrator Rules For Employes In Suspension Case

Cites Firm's Right To Curb Stretch Out

In an award dated January 4, I. Robert Feinberg, New York arbitrator, ruled that five employes of the preparation department of the spinning department were improperly suspended from their positions at the Celanese plant between July 20 and July 28.

He further ruled that the Celanese Corporation of America "shall reimburse" the employes, John Weslow, Leslie Duckworth, Conda Bennett, Kenneth Grimes and Walter Reinhart, for wages lost by them during their suspensions for failing to meet a time limitation on an operation.

The issue, submitted by Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, and the Celanese Corporation, arose from the union claim that the five workers were improperly suspended and should be reimbursed for lost earnings.

In awarding for the union, Feinberg stressed the decision was not to mean that the company cannot take appropriate steps to curtail a "stretch out" if one in fact exists, nor to say that the two-hour limitation was unreasonable.

It is significant, he pointed out, that since the suspensions took place, all employes have been able to perform the operation within the time. It may well be, he said, that the rule is fair and reasonable, although that question is not decided in the opinion.

May Impose Standards

Nor is the ruling, he pointed out, intended to prevent the company from setting a time standard in the absence of consent of the union. Once a fair opportunity for discussion has been afforded the union and if the parties are unable to agree, the company might place the rule in effect subject to the invocation by the union of its right to arbitrate the issue.

He also said the award applied solely to the facts of the case and to the imposition of a time limitation on the operation involved, but was not intended to cast doubt on the authority of the company to

League Elects New Officers

BALTIMORE, Jan. 7 (AP)—Mayor John C. Post of Takoma Park today was elected president of the newly formed Maryland League of Municipalities at its first convention.

Unequal representation of cities in their state legislatures was one of the main topics of the day.

Donoh W. Hanks, Jr., assistant director of the American Municipal Association, told the mayors, city councilmen, and other city officials that it was a nation-wide problem.

"It is one of the causes of the plight of some of our cities," he declared.

"In 20 states, over half of the population live in municipalities yet their legislautres are predominantly rural. This situation is well known and needs no elaborating. We must correct it, not only because equitable representation will help the municipalities gain solutions to their problems in the legislatures, but because it is in the American tradition and is the democratic ideal."

Named to the League's executive committee were Lloyd B. Mathias, mayor of Mt. Rainier, and Henry W. Hanna, city councilman at Salisbury.

Representation in the Maryland General Assembly is a subject scheduled to come before the State Legislature in its session just now getting under way. A reapportionment proposal has been approved by the Legislative Council, after considerable controversy, and it is almost sure to encounter rough going in the Assembly.

Local officials attending the meeting are Mayor Thomas S. Post, second vice president of the League; Commissioners William V. Keegan and William H. Buchholtz; City Attorney Thomas B. Finan and George M. Hitchcock, smoke abatement engineer.

Assistant Forester Reports On Causes, Cures Of Flood Dangers

With spring not too far away, most countians, farmers and city dwellers alike, turn their attention to the danger of floods. To aid farmers in contributing toward flood control, Carl G. Heczko, assistant district forester, has written a report on the causes and cures of flood dangers.

Heczko pointed out that the best natural flood control agent is land well stocked with trees. He said tests in the Ohio Valley showed soil of a hardwood forest absorbed 14 times as much water per minute as the soil of an adjacent open field.

Forest land plays a large part in checking surface runoff at Lakes Gordon and Koon, Heczko said, pointing out that after a period of rainy weather small streams flowing into the lakes from the west and north are overflowing with silt-laden water.

The streams, he pointed out, originate in an area where steeply sloping land is used for cultivation. On the eastern side, he added, clear water flows into the lakes because the streams originate on the wooded slopes of Evitts mountain. The level of this water, he said, is hardly increased by rainfall. Most of the water entering the lakes from the east does so by underground seepage, he added. It does not need to be filtered even after long periods of rainy weather, Heczko said.

"Forest soil," he pointed out, "is loose and covered with a deep layer of humus which prevents the soil from freezing during cold weather. Rainfall sinks into this loose porous soil and trickles down under the surface of the ground, eventually being discharged at some lower level through springs or seeps without doing any damage to the topsoil.

"On the other hand pasture, grass land and cultivated fields have less porous soil through which water

Sgt. Shields Cites Police Qualifications

"You can't hang a badge and a gun on a man and call him an officer," Sgt. H. R. Shields, Romney, area supervisor of the West Virginia Department of Public Safety, declared Wednesday night in an address before the Fort Ashby Lions Club.

In his speech on the service of a police officer, Sgt. Shields, a member of the State Police for 21 years, discussed major problems facing law enforcement officers of West Virginia.

The prevention of crime, he said, is the first duty of each officer although the apprehension of criminals and patrol of highways take up much of an officer's time.

He pointed out that officers are often unjustly criticized for delay in investigating complaints, explaining that calls must be taken in order of importance since staffs at most stations are small.

Four members of the Oakland Lions Club were guests at the meeting held in the Methodist Church of Fort Ashby.

Committee reports will be submitted at a meeting Wednesday, January 19, at 6:30 p. m., according to Melvin H. Martin, president.

Special Grand Jury Report Critical Of Conditions In State Asylums

BALTIMORE, Jan. 7 (AP) — A special grand jury report filed today said patients in Maryland's mental hospital were "getting less in the way of treatment than that to which they are justly entitled" because of overcrowded and understaffed conditions.

The report came from a grand jury subcommittee headed by Dr. William H. Tripplett. It covered Springfield State Hospital, Spring Grove State Hospital, Crownsville State Hospital for negroes and the Baltimore City hospital.

At Springfield, the report complained, there are 400 employes on the payroll while 647 are provided for in the budget. Lack of housing and subsequent salary adjustments for those providing their own quarters, and working hours and conditions were given as reasons for the small staff.

The report said there were 3,039 patients at Springfield, an institution with an official capacity of 2,100.

At Spring Grove, the 2,366 patients are jammed together, the subcommittee declared. They are cared for by a staff of 310. The budget calls for a staff of 539.

As to Crownsville, the committee said it was "a sad commentary" on the state that conditions there never seem to change in spite of repeated recommendations of past grand juries.

Crownsville has 1,780 patients, the report continues, in space suited for only 1,090. It complained also of understaffing there and blamed that and overcrowding for frequent escapes from the institution.

Imperfect conditions in Baltimore City Hospitals were laid to a personnel shortage. The report unged prompt creation of a Tuberculosis hospital and remodeling of the hospital infirmary.

Commission To Debate Federal Pollution Aid

Policy Declaration Will Be Sought

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (AP) — A policy on federal aid to control stream pollution will be debated tomorrow by members of the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin.

The group voted today to seek a policy declaration in order to try in turn for an expression of policy by Congress.

This move itself brought up a brief debate today.

Several members expressed the view that there should be federal aid for stream pollution work as well as for other public projects.

Others doubted that the commission should go on record favoring "government handouts."

Chairman Raymond V. Long, of Richmond, Va., named a committee of five to draw up a resolution to be debated tomorrow. He appointed State Senator L. Harold Sothoron, of Maryland; Harold A. Kemp, District of Columbia; City Manager I. G. Vass, of Waynesboro, K. S. Watson, of Charleston, W. Va., and Harry Shaw, of the District.

The commission would seek a congressional policy declaration through the council of state governments.

Robert McCall, of Charleston, and Vass told the commission the big question always asked in conferences on pollution control is where the money is coming from.

Vass said the lack of a definite policy in the matter of federal aid is delaying the start of pollution control projects.

"In Virginia a majority vote of the citizens is required" for a bond issue, he said, and as long as there is a considerable group "holding back to see what the federal government is going to do, it slows up the work."

H. A. Trebler, New York technical consultant and member of the commission's industrial committee, said he doubts that industry wants more grants from the government. "It means more interference," he added.

Shaw and Kemp contended there should be no more hesitancy in asking federal help for pollution control than for highways and harbors.

The commission today also:

1. Voted to ask the Agriculture Department for a re-survey of the Potomac Basin.

2. Adopted a recommendation for establishment of a demonstration area in pollution control on a small stream or streams in the basin, and named a committee to suggest locations.

3. Voted to continue study of stream conditions in the Washington metropolitan area.

4. Voted to ask the Public Health Service for a survey of the river between Key Bridge, Washington, and Great Falls, about 15 miles upstream.

Legion To Honor 30-Year Members

Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, will pay tribute to its 30-year members at ceremonies Tuesday night when certificates and uniform patches will be awarded. A membership program is also planned.

Officers of the post said approximately 14 members will receive the awards. They are all charter members of the local post which was founded in 1919—30 years ago.

Plans for the program have not yet been completed, officers said last night, but they added they expect the awards to be presented by a post officer.

The patches are designed and issued by the National organization and can be worn on either the Legion uniform or cap. Other posts throughout the country are planning similar ceremonies.

Gas Company To Enlarge, Renew Three Pipe Lines

Work Completed On New Mapleside Main

City Engineer Ralph L. Rizer yesterday granted permits to the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company to enlarge and renew four-inch lines in the Williams Street, Fourth Street and Columbia Avenue sections.

Carl C. Robbins, district manager, said the three lines have not been renewed since they were laid in 1907.

Robbins also announced that work has just been completed on laying 1,900 feet of a new six-inch pipe line from Virginia Avenue to Massachusetts Avenue and Mapleside.

The work, which was in progress four months, will increase the volume of gas available to Mapleside consumers.

Robbins said work on renewing the three four-inch lines will start next week and will take about 30 days. He said overall cost of that work plus laying the new Mapleside line will amount to between $12,000 and $14,000.

Lines to be renewed and enlarged include the pipe crossing Williams Street at Dorn Avenue; the connecting line from Fourth to Homer Streets; and the line on Columbia Avenue between Pulaski and Holland Streets.

Rizer inspected the locations yesterday with Fred Goss, foreman for the gas company, prior to granting permits for the work. Plats of the areas were filed in the city engineer's office.

Rizer explains the gas company pays for Street Department work in restoring streets after lines are laid or renewed.

No Vote Taken On Romney, W.Va. Water Equipment

Mayor Says City's Supply Is Pure

ROMNEY, W. Va.—Mayor Blair M. Haines denied last night that any vote was taken on immediate installation of new equipment in the municipal water plant at Thursday night's Town Council meeting following charges that the town water supply was polluted.

Mayor Haines expressed himself satisfied as to the purity of Romney water and said not only was no vote taken for the installation of equipment, but there had been no motion raised on the subjcet.

The meeting Thursday was a routine council meeting during which the matter was discussed following charges last week by Dr. J. F. Easton, Romney physician, that the water supply was contaminated.

Dr. Easton published last week a report from the Cumberland Laboratories which said two samples from the town water supply contained a large number of possibly harmful bacteria.

Filter System Asked

In a statement with the report, Dr. Easton asked for the installation of an efficient filter system and, in particular, notification by city authorities when the water was unsafe for drinking. In his opinion, he said, the water was contaminated.

William F. Waller, Keyser, W. Va., senior sanitarian of District No. 5, of the West Virginia State Department of Health, said that Dr. Easton's statement was "not founded on fact."

Waller said in a public report of yesterday that three visits were made during the past four months by engineers from the State Department of Health to inspect the operations of the Romney plant.

Monthly samples of water taken by C. E. Bright, Hampshire County engineer, show that the water meets the standards for safety of the U. S. Public Health office, Walter stated.

He clarified his statement by saying that the reports on samples of the water supply taken in accord with the standard method of analysis and examined in state laboratories during the past year are available for inspection.

Were Not Refrigerated

Walter denied the reliability of Dr. Easton's samples as laboratory officials said they were note tested immediately after being taken from the water supply and had not been refrigerated..

An authority on water analysis said that according to U. S. Public Health Standards, an effective test can only be taken within two hours of drawing a sample unless the specimen is refrigerated. If the water had been refrigerated, the test would have been accurate if taken the next day.

Dr. Easton said he brought the specimen to Cumberland December 17 after the laboratory was closed and left it at the Cumberland Police Department for safekeeping.

The authority added that there were more bacteria in the sample than are considered safe by Public Health standards. He explained, however, that since the sample was not refrigerated, it is possible the bacteria could have multiplied while the water was standing at room temperature.

In a statement last night, Mayor Haines admitted the Romney water supply was sometimes cloudy. He attributed this to the lack of sufficient storage space for shutting off the supply when the river is high. He remarked the system had been built for a 1000-resident city which has doubled in population.

Larger Reservoir Planned

Plans have been drawn and approved by the Board of Health for two or three years for a larger reservoir, but there have been no funds for the project, he said.

The mayor admitted the Health Department has asked the city to install a lime feeder for filtering the water. Several months ago, prices were received on the project and the matter is under discussion. He emphasized, however, that no action has been taken.

A special meeting was not called on water pollution because complaint came from only one source, according to the mayor. He added that Waller had inspected the water equipment after reading Dr. Easton's report in a Romney paper and was invited to speak to the council.

Cars Damaged In Collision

Two cars were slightly damaged in a collision on Baltimore Avenue Thursday afternoon at 2:30.

The driver of one of the cars, Lester Merle Hinkle, 20, Flintstone, filed a report at Police Headquarters in which he said his brake line broke as he was traveling west on Baltimore Avenue, causing his sedan to strike another sedan going in the same direction, and a parked bus.

He listed the driver of the other car as Ernest Poole, Flintstone. The bus driver, he said, was Bernard Anderson, RFD 3, Cumberland. Damage to Hinkle's car was estimated at $100 and to the Poole car, $95.

Hinkle said his speed at the time of the accident was 15 miles per hour. No charges have been preferred.
